Fastest U.S. Plane Crashes

Bolivian Rebels Seize Airliner

47 Mutineers Seek Asylum In Argentina

SALTA, Argentina, Sept. 27 (AP)—A planeload of Bolivian political prisoners overpowered armed guards and seized their airliner in flight high over Bolivia today. They then turned the plane around and landed in Argentina, seeking asylum.

The 47 prisoners, among them several leaders of the Bolivian Socialist Falange party, immediately were ordered interned by the Argentine army.

"We preferred death in an airplane to life in a concentration camp," the prisoners' spokesman said.

The group had been arrested in Santa Cruz, Bolivia, after last Saturday's antigovernment riots in the capital, La Paz, that killed four persons and injured 25. They were being flown to La Paz.

Riots Blamed On Fascists

The Bolivian government blamed the Saturday riots on Fascists encouraged by the Socialist Falange. Other sources said the disorders grew from protests against food shortages and high prices in Bolivia.

Five crewmen and three Bolivian policemen were with the ex-prisoners on the Lloyd Aero Boliviano DC4 commercial airliner when it arrived at Salta airport. The mutineers turned over their guards' sub-machine gun and two pistols to Argentine federal police.

Guards Disarmed

The plan to take over the government-owned airliner was made by Lt. Col. Andres Saucedo Lanza, 43, former Bolivian military attache in Chile; Saul Pintos Landival, a veteran pilot reported fired from the government airline several years ago, and a Capt. Zamora.

Five minutes after takeoff at 7:15 a.m.—at a given signal—the men jumped and disarmed the guards. Pintos escaped being shot

British, French Agree On Suez Canal Strategy

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—British and French spokesmen reiterated today their government's determination to press for international control of the Suez Canal while maintaining a joint military build-up in striking distance of Egypt.

The French-British stand was emphasized after a conference here between Premier Guy Mollet and Prime Minister Eden and their foreign ministers.

They expressed full agreement on the line to be followed in the U.N. Security Council's pending debate on the Suez issue even as President Eisenhower indicated in Washington he would be willing to compromise on the kind of international operation which would be worked out for the waterway.

The British and French have insisted the canal must be run internationally and they have displayed annoyance at what they feel is U.S. reluctance on this point.

Eisenhower expressed hope at a news conference that a provisional method of canal operation could be worked out, perhaps along the lines of the 18-nation majority proposal at the first London Suez conference for international supervision.

Rejected outright by Egypt's President Nasser, that proposal remains a main objective of French-British policy, official spokesmen said.

Eden, Mollet, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, who met for about nine hours during the past two days, closed their conference with a communique saying French-British solidarity in every field had been reinforced.

Demos Helped Peron, Ike Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — President Eisenhower spoke up sharply in defense of his brother Milton today and said it was the Democrats who gave financial aid to ex-Dictator Juan Peron of Argentina.

No U.S. money went to Argentine after he took office, Eisenhower said, until after Peron had been overthrown and driven into exile.

The President spoke out at a news conference when asked how he felt about the "propriety" of the opposition bringing his brother into the campaign.

Adlai Stevenson said in a speech at Miami Tuesday night that the Eisenhower administration had "appeased" the Peron regime. The Democratic presidential nominee added that "a member of the President's personal family assumed special, if informal, responsibility for our relationships with Argentina." An aide said Stevenson referred to Milton Eisenhower.

Jurors Who Studied Law On Their Own Discharged

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 27 (AP)—Because they decided to study the law for themselves, 12 jurors were discharged yesterday in a second-degree murder trial.

The jurors were deliberating the case against Leonard F. Pinkney, 38, accused of fatally stabbing Floyd Matthew Jr., 33, last March 31 in a cottage they shared.

After the state and the defense rested, Common Pleas Judge John W. Hackett instructed the jury on what constitutes second degree murder and what lesser charges could be considered. Then the panel was escorted to the jury room for deliberation.

Five hours later, Asst. Prosecutor Joseph J. Jan happened to walk by the jury room and heard a voice saying:

"And no person shall purposely and maliciously . . ."

The words were from the statute governing second degree murder, Jan knew, but how did the jury happen to have the exact words at hand?

Jan informed Prosecutor Harry Friberg and they got a bailiff to unlock the jury room.

There were the jurors, poring over a number of law books which had been left in the jury room.

GOP Defeated In Move To Halt School Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—A party-line vote stymied a Republican effort today to halt until after the Nov. 6 election a House investigation of racial integration in Washington schools.

The proposed postponement of public hearings by a special House subcommittee was defeated, under the group's rules, by a 2-2 vote.

Lining up in support of the motion were its sponsor, Rep. Hyde (R-Md), and Rep. Broyhill (R-Va). They represent districts bordering on the nation's capital. Opposed were Chairman James C. Davis (D-Ga) and Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss).

Hyde contended it "would tend to quell criticism and strengthen the quality of the report which the subcommittee will make if further proceedings could be held under a bipartisan atmosphere."

Hyde's First Appearance

He said the Democratic leadership of the subcommittee had scheduled the hearings "at a time when Republican members—at least this Republican member—cannot attend."

Hyde, who is campaigning for re-election and made his first appearance at the hearings today, said Republican members "are being berated by Democratic candidates against us for not attending."

Davis confirmed that Hyde told him in advance he would not be able to attend the hearings, now in their second week, until after the election.

The sessions have been roundly criticized by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, which contends they are an attack on integration. Some Northern Democrats and Republicans also have voiced sharp criticism.

Integration Prepared For?

One of today's witnesses told the subcommittee she believes school employes here had been preparing for integration over a period of years before it was established in the fall of 1954.

"There was a gradual building up of good feeling," said Miss Edith A. Lyons, assistant supervisor in charge of elementary schools.

Subcommittee counsel William Gerber said there had been testimony "from teacher after teacher saying there was no preparation" for integration.

Miss Lyons said she could not "completely agree to that."

Effectiveness Of Salk Vaccine Confirmed

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 27 (AP)—Evidence from the still incomplete 1956 polio season reaffirms the effectiveness and potency of Salk vaccine, the man who evaluated vaccine trials in 1954 said today.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., of the School of Public Health at the University of Michigan, spoke at the university's medical alumni conference.

Dr. Francis, citing a recent Michigan polio report, said:

"As of Sept. 21, of all the 113 polio cases in Michigan diagnosed as paralytic, not one case has been reported among those children who previously had received three shots of Salk vaccine."

Referring to this summer's polio epidemic in Chicago, Dr. Francis added that of 633 paralytic polio cases, not one occurred after a child had received three injections in the prescribed manner.

Ike Will Put 'Whole Heart' Into Battle

Always "A Chance To Lose" Any Fight, Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — President Eisenhower, stepping up his schedule of campaign speeches, said today he believed in fighting any battle wholeheartedly—and with the thought there is always "a chance to lose it."

He made the statement in turning aside a news conference question as to whether he was getting reports his re-election campaign against Democrat Adali Stevenson "may be a closer race than you anticipated."

"I have not anticipated anything," Eisenhower replied with some force. "I believe that when you are in any contest you should work like there is—to the very last minute—a chance to lose it."

Doesn't Sound Pessimistic

"This is battle, this is politics, this is anything," he went on. "So I just see no excuse, if you believe anything enough, for not putting your whole heart into it. It is what I do."

However, Eisenhower did not sound at all pessimistic. Nor did the sum total of his remarks on the campaign sound as though he were "running scared," despite his statement about the possibility of losing.

Eisenhower said he had talked last night to his hard-campaigning running mate, Vice President Nixon, and Nixon "seemed to be highly pleased with what he encountered."

And, asked for his impressions of his two trips into the Midwest—campaign forays into Iowa and Illinois—Eisenhower said:

"Both Mrs. Eisenhower and I have been not only proud, we have been practically overwhelmed by the warmth of the personal welcome we have encountered.

"We are very, very happy that people seem to feel toward us like they show."

Acheson Statement Noted

As for the odds of his being re-elected, Eisenhower mentioned this indirectly in comment on a statement by Dean Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration, that the Eisenhower administration "seemed to be playing Russian roulette with an atomic pistol."

Rather tartly, Eisenhower said: "If this campaign were going to be settled on the basis of misleading wisecracks, why, I would think the betting would be very considerably different than it would be if it is settled just on facts and on the record."

How much more speech-making does he now plan? Eisenhower was asked.

"I am probably doing a little bit more than I originally planned in my own mind," Eisenhower responded, adding with a grin:

"But I will tell you one thing: I am not doing one-tenth of what a lot of people want me to do."

68 Rebels Die In Battle

ALGIERS, Algeria, Sept. 27 (AP)—The French reported their troops had killed 68 uniformed nationalist rebels in a battle near Macmahon, 20 miles southwest of Batna in eastern Algeria. French casualties were not given.

Nixon Raps Adlai's 'Political Quackery'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 27 (AP)—Vice President Nixon invaded Adlai Stevenson's home state tonight and tossed a hodful of verbal brickbats at the Democratic presidential nominee.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the National Guard Armory, Nixon accused Stevenson of "political quackery," said he offered a "defeatist and reactionary" program and has adopted the policies of "Harry Truman economically and of Dean Acheson politically."

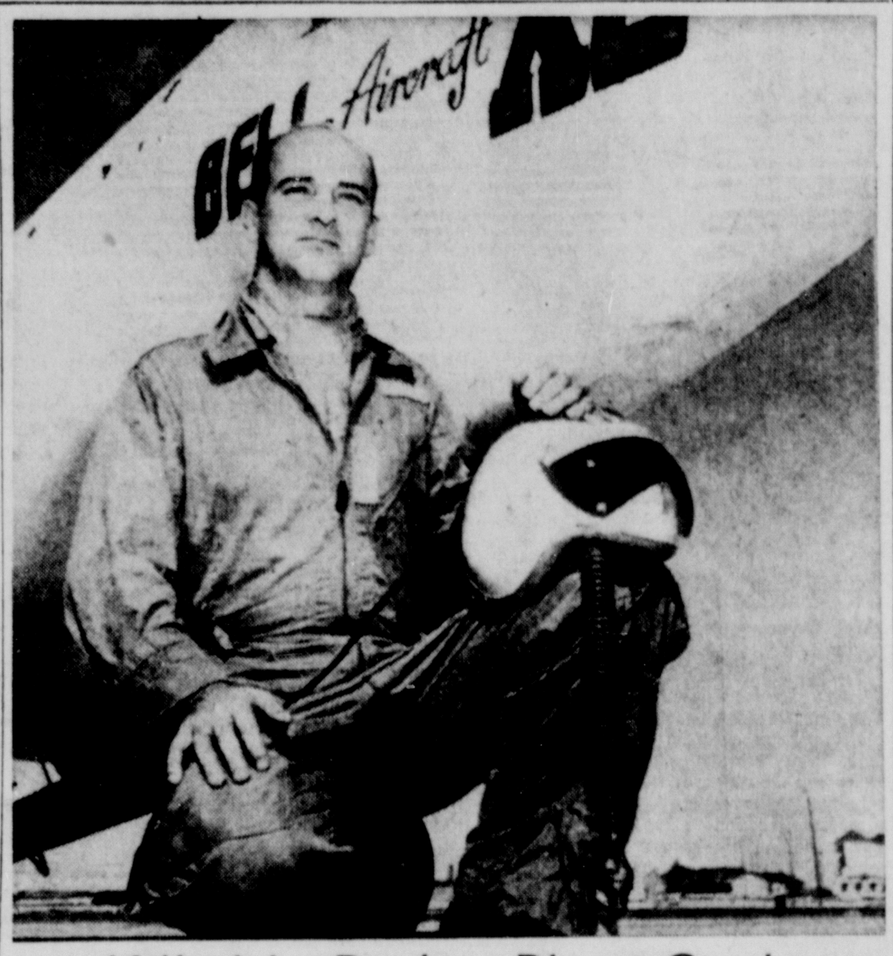

Nixon came here from Louisville where he spoke on civil rights at noon. His plans called for an overnight stop in Nashville and speeches tomorrow in Nashville, Cincinnati and Wheeling.

"There is no question," Nixon said, "but that we face as grave a threat to peace and freedom as we have ever confronted in the history of the country. The ship of state must be piloted through some stormy waters in the months and years ahead. If we are to come through safely we should not take the risk of putting our fate in the hands of a pilot who may be a perfectly well-intentioned man, who has read a lot of books on how to run a ship, but who has never had the experience of guiding a great ship through a stormy sea."

"The kind of leadership which our opposition offers is defeatist and reactionary," he said. "Mr. Stevenson, like Mr. Truman, apparently has little faith in the kind of dynamic individual enterprise that has made this nation great.

"Mr. Stevenson has again openly embraced Mr. Truman personally, politically and ideologically. His brand of leadership, as of now, is virtually an unknown quantity. It seems to have its roots in the policies of Harry Truman economically and of Dean Acheson diplomatically."

Nixon said the voters have the simple choice this year of deciding whether "we go forward with Eisenhower or back to the policies of the Truman regime."

Adlai Declares Roman Tactics Won't Save GOP

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson compared the Republican campaign tonight with the "bread and circuses" which the Roman emperors used to keep the people contented. He predicted the Republicans won't be any more successful than the Romans were.

The Democratic presidential nominee flew here to deliver another "give 'em hell speech" after telling a crowd at Kansas City, Kan., earlier in the day that the Democrats favor taking the country away from General Motors and "turning it back to Joe Smith."

Stevenson said the Republicans are trying "with movies, jeeps, girls and gadgets of all kinds" to sell the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket again "to a docile, complacent, carefree people, all happily chanting: 'Peace, prosperity and progress, ain't it wonderful!'"

Stevenson's speech was prepared for delivery at the Missouri Theater here, after the candidate rode in a motorcade through the Mid-America Jubilee grounds at the riverfront on the way from the airport to his hotel.

"You remember," Stevenson said, "how the Roman emperors in their declining years tried to keep the uneasy populace satisfied and their minds off their troubles with food and games, gladiatorial combat and spectacles.

". . . Well, 'bread and circuses' didn't save Rome, and it won't save the Republicans either!"

Queen's Doctor Killed

Boy, 3, Has Eaten 14,000 Bananas

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Little Ricky Savage isn't quite 3 years old but in his lifetime he's had to eat nearly 14,000 bananas; he's allergic to nearly all other foods. Ricky has a baby brother now, and the baby is allergic, too.

Ricky—he's really Bradley Richard Savage Jr.—has had a rare dietary trouble since birth. Doctors discovered he could tolerate a sort of "milk" made from soybeans. Everything else, except bananas, gave him a rash and diarrhea.

He thrived on bananas—sometimes ate 20 a day. Now he can eat a few other things in moderation and is down to two or three bananas a week.

British Set Off Nuclear Blast

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 27 (AP)—Britain touched off her fourth series of atomic explosions today with a test at the new Maralinga proving ground that ripped out a crater half a mile wide.

Although supposed to be relatively small, the blast rattled windows in the transcontinental Darwin-Adelaide train 200 miles away and wrecked everything within a two-mile radius.

The Sydney Morning Herald correspondent said it dug a "shallow, ash gray circle centered on the site of the vaporized tower which appears about half a mile wide."

"The ground for the further mile around is seared and gutted as if by a bush fire," he added. "A collection of steel huts ringing the tower at various distances are total wrecks. Buildings closest to the flash have disappeared and others a mile distant have collapsed."

The eyewitness report said the explosion formed a perfect mushroom, and a "fireball mounted the column as a great glowing bubble" but there was a notable absence of shock wave after the blast.

The start of the Maralinga tests, known as Operation Buffalo, was announced in Australia's House of Representatives by Supply Minister Howard Beale and by Sir William Penney, the British scientist in charge, in a message to the London government.

Hospital Believes Oldster At Least 150

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—A New York Hospital report said today that peppery little Javier Pereira is a very old man, and "possibly he may be more than 150 years of age."

Even if he is the world's oldest man, the report added, the tiny Indian from Colombia is sprier and better preserved in some respects than many men.

Pereira underscored the finding when he broke up a news conference by taking swings at a couple of reporters. He hit one who reported:

"Believe me, it hurts."

Pereira, 4 feet 4 was brought here from South America two weeks ago to try to test the claim of some people that he is 167 years old.

Tito Flies Back To Russia With Red Party Boss

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 27 (AP) — President Tito surprised Western capitals today by flying to the Soviet Union with Soviet Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev.

The trip was officially described as a vacation. There was a widespread belief the real purpose was to continue talks on the future role that Yugoslavia will play in relations with other East European Communist parties.

Khrushchev arrived unexpectedly in Belgrade Sept. 19 on a visit also described as a vacation. Tito and the Russian leader spent several days talking privately on Brioni Isle in the Adriatic. The main subject was generally believed to be Tito's independent brand of communism.

The fact Tito returned to Russia with Khrushchev was taken as an indication their eight-day talks here were not conclusive. There was speculation the conversations had reached a point where the Russian needed to consult his Kremlin colleagues.

There was speculation Tito may stay at the Crimean summer resort of Sochi. Reports from Moscow this week said most of the Kremlin leaders were vacationing out of town, with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov specifically mentioned as being at Sochi.

(In Washington, State Department officials were amazed and bewildered by Tito's new trip to Russia. Tito was described as being aware that the future of U.S. aid to Yugoslavia is now up for decision and that any substantial evidence of tighter relations between him and the Soviet leaders would jeopardize its continuance.)

Death Ends Pilot's First Flight In X2

Rocket-Powered Needlenose Craft Falls Into Desert

EDWARDS, Calif., Sept. 27 (AP)—The needlenose X2, America's fastest plane, crashed in the desert today, killing an Air Force captain.

It was Capt. Milburn G. Apt's first flight in the rocket-powered plane.

A B50 bomber released the X2 at 30,000 feet over Edwards Air Force base. Less than two minutes later it smashed to earth. The body of Capt. Apt, 32, of Buffalo, Kan., was found in the wreckage.

For Apt it was to have been a familiarization flight in the X2, which other pilots have reportedly taken to 126,000 feet altitude and to speeds of nearly 2,000 miles an hour.

X2 Only One Of Type

The Air Force has refused to verify reports of the X2's altitude and speed accomplishments. The plane, only one of its type, was built by the Bell Aircraft Co. of Buffalo, N.Y., to explore the heat barrier—the point at which friction resulting from high speed starts to weaken metal.

The plane crashed in open desert five miles from Edwards, where Apt's wife, Faye, was waiting for word of her husband's first flight in the X2.

Apt also leaves two daughters, Christine, 5, and Sharman, 2.

A spokesman at Edwards said that Apt fired his rockets after dropping from the mother plane. The drop was described as normal.

"We had contact with the X2," said Col. Albert A. Arnhym, public information officer at the base. "But the contact suddenly stopped—and we don't know what happened."

A chase plane—a fast jet fighter—always followed the X2 down, Col. Arnhym said that the chase plane lost the X2 today as it accelerated away from the B50.

Capt. Apt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oley G. Apt of Buffalo, Kan., was being trained for "flying laboratory" missions in the X2, joining Capt. Iven Kincheloe in thermal barrier tests. It was Capt. Kincheloe who flew the X2 on the plane's high-altitude flight.

The speed run was made by Lt. Col. Frank Everest, who has since been reassigned to the Air Force Staff College at Norfolk, Va.

The X2 was powered by a Curtiss-Wright rocket engine which, in the brief burst of power, developed power comparable to that of a modern Navy cruiser.

Liberace Stung By Paris Wasp

PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP) — Liberace flew in to Paris today and was practically ignored — except by a wasp which stung him on the right thumb.

The pianist insisted upon being taken at once to the airport dispensary, where the physician expressed sympathy.

"But my thumb doesn't move now," Liberace complained.

The physician said it would be all better by Sunday, when the pianist opens at the Paldium in London.

'Flossy' Whips Northeast As New Storm Appears

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Northeast today felt the whiplash of Flossy, once a menacing tropical hurricane but now just a mean old coastal storm.

Southern New Jersey clocked winds of 34 miles per hour with gusts up to 50 m.p.h. as the storm moved on New York and New England at a sluggish pace.

Storm warnings fluttered from the Virginia Capes to Provincetown, Mass., attesting to the high winds, high tides and rain that Flossy brought with her However, no serious flooding was forecast.

A new tropical storm far out in the Atlantic began moving westward from the Windward Islands toward the Caribbean at 17 m.p.h. Its top center winds were only 30 m.p.h. but they threatened to build up.

Small craft in the path of the new storm were warned. Hurricane hunter planes were sent out 1,630 miles southeast of Miami to watch it.

The Miami Weather Bureau noted that this is the time of year when most great hurricanes are born.

Flossy came out of the Gulf of Mexico and into Georgia as a full-fledged hurricane. It left 10 persons dead and 10 or 12 missing as it raked the Southeast with millions of dollars in damages.

As Flossy moved along its strength waned. The Weather Bureau in Washington changed its category from that of a tropical storm to that of "a typical East Coast storm." It said cold air has surrounded Flossy.

School Boycott Begins Sagging

Board Rebuffs White Council

HENDERSON, Ky., Sept. 27 (AP)—The Henderson County Board of Education today refused to meet with leaders of a boycott at the Weaverton Elementary School and segregationists implied they might not be able to keep their protests peaceful.

"It will be very difficult to keep peace among the crowd unless the school board meets with us," said Rayburn Sugg, chairman of the White Citizens Council.

Sugg said, however, he is "fairly confident there will be no trouble tomorrow morning."

County Schools Supt. C. B. West said the board would not meet with the council because "the board's position remains the same. We plan to keep the school open."

The council's boycott of Weaverton, where five Negro students are in class, began to sag after the Henderson Ministerial Assn. called on parents to keep children in school. The association has been making hourly broadcasts urging parents to follow its advice.

Attendance at Weaverton, with a total enrollment of 870, was up to 267 from the low of 206 on Tuesday.

Central and Seventh Street elementary schools inside the city reported 220 students absent, a slight increase over the day before. These are the only other schools in the county which have admitted Negro pupils.

Suggs said earlier "we're losing our battle" but the boycott "will continue."

Suggs has called on all parents who are keeping their children out of school to meet at 7 a.m. tomorrow at the Weaverton school.

Suggs said that failure of the school board to meet may make some people "dissatisfied with local— council —leadership and take action in their own hands."

Butler To Talk Of '50 Campaign In Oct. Address

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sen. Butler campaigned in downtown Baltimore today and said he would discuss the controversial 1950 campaign in a major speech next month.

The Republican senator, seeking reelection, was loaded down with cigars, match books and campaign cards as he looked for votes among the stallkeepers and shoppers in Lexington Market.

He had nothing to say about the 1950 campaign except that he would discuss it next month. Butler's Democratic opponent, George P. Mahoney, has sought to make the 1950 senatorial campaign an issue in the present fight. A Senate election subcommittee which investigated the 1950 campaign described it as "back street."

Out of some 250 people Sen. Butler stopped and spoke to today, only two expressed outright hostility and gave him back his campaign matches. He did little political talking on the tour. Mostly, he just shook hands with persons he met.

A butcher wanted to know why a scheduled television debate between Butler and Mahoney had been cancelled.

Man's Body Found On B. And O. Tracks

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 27 (AP) — A mutilated body tentatively identified as Clarence J. Travis was found today on Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at nearby Swan Creek.

State Police said they also found an address, 432 West Franklin St. which they believed to be in Philadelphia. The dead man apparently was struck by a train.

The body was found by Joseph Simmons of Havre de Grace, a B & O. track foreman, after trainmen reported seeing what they believed to be a body.

Talbot County No-Integration Suit Dismissed

EASTON, Md., Sept. 27 (AP)—A Circuit judge today dismissed a suit aimed at preserving segregated schools, ruling that his court was bound by the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation.

The Supreme Court's ruling in the historic school case is "the law of the land and as such binding on this court," said Judge J. DeWeese Carter.

He threw out the petition of the Maryland Petition Committee for an order that would force Talbot County school officials to scrap their integration plan and maintain separate schools for Negro and white students.

The committee, represented by Attorney George Washington Williams, filed the suit on behalf of 23 parents and grandparents representing a total of 73 children.

Williams said he would appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals and, if he gets an adverse ruling there, will go to the Supreme Court.

Judge Carter, in a memorandum, said there were two propositions relied on by the committee as the basis for its request: (1) That the 14th Amendment to the Constitution was illegally adopted and therefore not valid, and (2) that the Supreme Court committed errors of law and fact in its decisions outlawing segregation in public schools.

The jurist ruled, however, that the only way a decision of the Supreme Court can lawfully be changed is by the court reversing its own decision or by amendment of the Constitution.

Diana Dors Will Return To Britain

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Diana Dors, bosomy blonde actress whose four-month Hollywood career has spanned two pictures and one dunking in her own swimming pool, is returning to Britain.

The reason, says her husband, Dennis Hamilton: she is "so terribly homesick."

"I wanted to stay out in Hollywood, she didn't," Hamilton said on his arrival from New York. "We had a heck of an argument and Diana won."

Miss Dors and her husband splashed into the headlines Aug. 20 when they were pushed into a swimming pool during a party at their luxurious Hollywood home.

Diana was quoted in July as saying she and her husband planned to become permanent residents of Hollywood but Hamilton said he and Miss Dors will form their own film company in London and she will return here in November after completing her second picture in Hollywood.

High Tides In Bay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Weather Bureau predicted tonight that Storm Flossy may cause abnormal tides in Chesapeake Bay.

The forecast said the tides may range up to four feet above normal at the lower end of the bay and two feet in the upper part, during high tide.

Widow Is Accused Of Raising Her Young Son Like Chicken

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 27 (AP)—A black-clad 45-year-old widow was brought into court today on charges of ill treating her 7-year-old son by raising him like a chicken.

Mrs. Margaret Halpenny spent only four minutes in court while the prosecutor asked a delay to permit him to collect further evidence.

She was then remanded until Oct. 11 and whisked out of a side entrance to avoid a crowd—mostly women — drawn to Downpatrick courthouse by reports of the strange case.

Mrs. Halpenny's son Kevin was found two weeks ago by a group of children playing hide and seek. He was perched on a roost in a henhouse near a cottage where the woman lives with two grown daughters.

Police Sgt. Hugh Ross said the boy "cannot walk and he cannot eat human food. He has been reared like a chicken. He gets around by hopping like an ape and replies to voices with grunts in a half-human fashion."

Official Admits Force Used To Obtain Polish Riot Confessions

POZNAN, Poland, Sept. 27 (AP)—Communist Poland opened trials of the bread-and-freedom rioters today. There were defiant protests of innocence from defendants and an official admission that force had been used to extract confessions.

Police Prosecutor Zygmons Lehmann made the admission just before trials began for 54 of the 150 arrested after the Poznan workers' uprising last June 28. He said the use of force has been stopped and the guilty Polish officials have been punished.

The 150 defendants are charged with criminal acts in the rebellion. Major accusations affected the group of 54, whose trials are expected to take 10 days.

Two simultaneous hearings launched the trials.

In one courtroom, three tough-looking shabbily dressed Polish youths pleaded innocent to a charge that they killed a secret police corporal.

The youths are Jozef Foltynewicz, 20; Kazimierz Zurek, 18; and Jerzy Sroka, 18. They admitted hitting the corporal but denied they killed him. They entered their pleas defiantly.

The youths also are accused of looting and "inciting the population against local security forces."

In the other hearing, nine defendants pleaded guilty to some charges of storming government offices and shooting down soldiers and police but protested they were innocent of other accusations.

The indictment said they were among those who stormed the city jail and forcibly disarmed police units.

There was nothing in the demeanor of the defendants to suggest the abject self-accusation that marked Communist area purge trials in the Stalin era.

Circle To Meet

"Good Will" Dairy Herd Sails For Russia Sept. 29

NEW WINDSOR, Md., Sept. 27 (AP)—A herd of 52 dairy cattle given by American farmers and church members will sail from Houston, Texas, Sept. 29 for a government farm in Russia.

The "good will" shipment was arranged by Heifer Project, Inc., which has headquarters here. This agency has sent livestock and poultry, contributed by farmers, to more than 39 countries since the end of World War II.

Contributions in the form of cash and cattle for the herd came from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, California, Michigan and the District of Columbia, Heifer Project announced.

In Russia, the herd will be kept on a government-owned farm and the milk will be distributed on a priority basis to hospitals and schools. Any surplus will go into regular consumer channels.

Russian buyers who visited Iowa in 1955 on a seed corn purchasing mission heard of Heifer Project and reported it to the Soviet Department of Agriculture. The Soviet Union offered to finance transportation costs for any animals the project could provide.

The herd is composed of Holstein and Brown Swiss cattle, both excellent milk producers. There will be 48 bred heifers who will deliver calves and begin milking about two months after arrival. Two bulls of each breed also are included.

The herd will be shipped on the S. S. Sue Lykes. Accompanying the animals will be the Rev. Mark Y. Schrock of Nappanee, Ind., the Rev. Paul E. Miller of Adel, Iowa, and Milo J. Yoder, a mortician from Middlebury, Ind.

This is Heifer Project's first shipment to Russia. Since it was organized in 1944, the project has shipped 9,051 cattle, 7,307 goats, 1,325 pigs, 264,860 chicks, 287,280 hatching eggs and thousands of other farm animals to other countries.

Heifer Project is directed by 13 church and farm organizations.

Jordan Officer Tells Of Attack On Police Post

By TOM MASTERSON

HUSAN VILLAGE, Jordan, Sept. 27 (AP)—The little Jordan army captain who commanded a police post attacked by Israelis with a surprise nighttime blow told his story yesterday.

"Six of my men were killed," he said bitterly. "I only had 30 men in the post and they put up a desperate fight for hours. But what can 30 men do against a full regiment?

"The enemy threw 36-pound artillery and 3-inch mortar fire at us. They kept up a steady barrage of fire with machineguns, bren guns, and sten guns. We had only light weapons."

The captain, a veteran of six border fights, stood in the ruins of his police post at Sharafa as he described the attack. He refused to let his name be used. "Just call me Ismail," he said.

The Sharafa police post sits atop the high rock-strewn hill overlooking the frontier. The lights of Amin Adan, an Israel village two miles away, can be seen clearly.

"They launched their attack from over there," Ismail said, looking toward Amin Adan. "They started with a heavy artillery barrage at 7:30 and, under cover of the barrage, infantry, mobile artillery, halftracks and armored cars moved across the border and struck deep into our territory.

"As they climbed the hill toward the post we could hear them shout to each other, 'hurry up' "

He said the Israelis finally captured the post half an hour after midnight. "Then they blew it up."

The Israelis did an effective job. Hardly a stone stands upon another in what was once a strong post.

Shippers To Meet Oct. 3 In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—About 350 shippers and receivers of freight from six eastern seaboard states and the District of Columbia will meet here October 3 and 4 to discuss transportation problems.

Highlights of the meeting will be addresses by W. Arthur Grotz of Baltimore, president of the Western Maryland Railway, and Arthur H. Gass, chairman of the car service division of the Assn. of American Railroads. Gass will talk on the national transportation situation.

A report on freight carloadings anticipated during the last quarter of this year will be presented by R. A. Cooke, manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. traffic department.

The group, known as the Atlantic States Shippers Advisory Board, embraces territory including Washington, Delaware and New Jersey and parts of New York, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Navy Ship For Bonn

BONN, Sept. 27 (AP)—West Germany is getting back 24 more former German naval craft for its new navy, the U.S. Embassy announced. They include 14 minesweepers, three patrol craft and a small tanker. The vessels have been manned by German crews employed by the U.S. Navy.

Pay Hike For DES Workers Endorsed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Maryland's State Employes Standard Salary Board yesterday gave tentative approval to pay raises totaling about $200,000 for some 400 persons who work for the Department of Employment Security.

Russell S. Davis, State commissioner of personnel, said the reclassifications dealt with jobs of a nature peculiar to the Employment Security Department, and thus the raises won't affect other State jobs.

The salary board said the raises varied so greatly with individual jobs that it would be misleading now to try to provide a breakdown of what they mean in terms of yearly salaries. The approval still is subject to final action.

Some $4,600,000 already is set aside in the present budget for giving State employes an across-the-board raise of $260 per year with the pay period beginning October 3.

It was announced that those planning to play basketball must pay both back and 1957 dues which are now owing, to be eligible. Notices of practice dates will be mailed to the players.

A "bakeless" bake sale is planned. Mothers of members are asked to send cash donations with their sons to the October 10 meeting. Officers will be elected at the meeting October 24, and all members are urged to attend.

Six advisors and 40 members attended.

Century Club Open House Program Announced

Chairmen reports and a talk by Miss Helen Clark, director of library extension for the State of Maryland department of Education, featured the first meeting of the fall season of the LaVale Century Club, held Tuesday evening in the fellowship hall of LaVale Methodist Church.

Mrs. F. V. Cozad presided and the collect was read by Mrs. Richard Johnson. Mrs. William A. Douglas, president of the Maryland Federation and charter member of the club, was introduced. Routine reports were given and announcement was made of the District Federation meeting to be held October 10 at Western Maryland College, Westminster.

Various chairmen reports were given. Mrs. Milton Granet, Library chairman, said all books have been moved into the new building, so the old library is closed this week. Mrs. Henry Lowery, Hospitality chairman, told of plans for the Open House October 1. Any resident of LaVale interested in the library is invited to attend the open house. The children will be welcome during the regular hours in the evening. Mrs. Lowery introduced hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Seldon Harris, Mrs. Byron Bonebreak, Mrs. Howard Mignot, Mrs. Robert Hunter and Mrs. August Ricker.

Mrs. William A. O'Brien, first vice president and Program chairman, announced John M. Robb is to be the speaker for the October meeting. His subject will be "Voting Machines." She requested members to plant half a dozen extra bulbs, because in April a workshop on flower arrangements will be given by Mrs. Gilbert Miller. Mrs. Lloyd Buchannan, Legislative chairman, reminded the members that October 6 is the deadline for registration for voting.

Receiving a report by Mrs. Bonebreak, Community Service chairman, on the teen-age dance and information that the next will be October 13, the club voted to give $5 to the teen-age group for records.

A workshop on Christmas decorations for the December program was announced by Mrs. George Newman, Arts and Cratt chairman. She also announced that Mrs. Max Bastian, Creative Arts chairman of the Cumberland Woman's Civic Club, has openings in that group, and that Theodore P. Foote, art supervisor for Allegany County schools, will help those in the Arts and Crafts group who are interested in starting making jewelry.

Mrs. Richard Heacox, Building and Maintenance chairman, gave details which have been accomplished in the new library and extended an invitation to the Open House October 1 from 3 until 5 o'clock. Mrs. Gilbert Bohn, Ways and Means chairman, reported $300 had been made on the style review and card party held last Friday. Mrs. Cozad thanked the group who worked with her putting race programs together at a local printing firm and giving their 12 days' pay to the library fund. They were Mrs. Paul Steinla, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Henry Lowery, Mrs. William Mather, Mrs. William Barger, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mrs. John Lucas and Mrs. Richard Johnson.

Miss Clark, who was introduced by Mrs. Granet, spoke on what can be done in the county for libraries, and showed a film, "A Small Town Library." It showed how one community became part of the library system and profited by it. She also gave figures to show how library extension has grown in the past 10 years and gave examples of the type of information requested by libraries. She also explained the county library law passed in 1945, and what a community has to do to receive state aid for a library. She also stated that the progress of the LaVale Library is proof that the service is wanted.

Guests from the women's clubs of the county were Mrs. William Claus, Mrs. L. J. Ort, Mrs. L. I. Horner, Mrs. H. G. Mellotti, Mrs. J. A. Petry, Mrs. Boyd Bolyard, Mrs. John Steidings, Mrs. R. E. Brochman, Mrs. B. D. Friedman, Mrs. Ardell Haines, Mrs. Charles E. Kolb, Mrs. Esther R. Price, Mrs. Mabel L. Higgins, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Thomas, Mrs. Nellie H. McCoy, Mrs. Mary Hanna, Mrs. Martha Jane Cook, Mrs. Bruce Douglas, Mrs. Frank Simms, Mrs. Virgil Atkinson, Miss Helen Hough, Miss Kathleen Wolf and Mrs. William D. Smith.

Fellowship Party Set November 7

The annual Fellowship Card Party of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held November 7.

It is to be held at State Teachers College, Frostburg, in the old gymnasium, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Plans were formulated by the committee consisting of Mrs. Joseph Kruson, Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Esther Carter, Mrs. Esther Kachline, and Mrs. J. Russell Cook, chairman.

The Woman's Guild of Holy Cross Church will hold a bake sale tomorrow at the Paramount Radio Sales and Service Store, Virginia Avenue, from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Five U.S. Ship Captains Training As Suez Pilots

PORT SAID, Egypt, Sept. 27 (AP)—Five experienced U. S. ship captains arrived yesterday to start training as Suez Canal pilots for President Nasser's nationalized canal administration.

The Americans signed in at administration headquarters in Ismalia, then came to Port Said where they will be based in the early days of their training.

Most of them have had experience as ships' officers on the Suez Canal, and for Walter A. Equils of New Kensington, Pa., the return to Port Said brought back memories of World War II. Equils was captain of a supply ship for the Sicilian invasion which was tied up at Port Said Harbor.

Flying in with him today were four other Americans: Nico Hagens, 45, of New York City; Gregory Hatch, 40, of San Francisco; Chester Holland, of Newport Beach, Calif., and Alex Langtry, of Staten Island, N.Y.

Equils said he hoped other American seamen would join them here and added, "We hope to promote that feeling if we don't pilot ships the Russians will."

The men's transport to Suez was paid by the Suez Canal Administration. The company now has about 115 pilots in training, in addition to the 70 Egyptian and seven Greek pilots from the old regime. A small corps of the most experienced pilots, however, is still bearing the brunt of the work, particularly with the larger ships, and is badly in need of relief.

Women Block Noisy Trucks

BAYONNE, N. J., Sept. 27 (AP)—It had gotten so noisy on the street that a person couldn't even hear himself snore.

So, early yesterday, a picket line of sleepless women clad in wrappers over their nightclothes called a halt to the snarling trucks that they claimed made sleep impossible.

They marched up and down blocking the trucks that rumbled to and from Sabastian Lamanno's truck terminal all night long.

"We Want Sleep," protested their placards.

And sleep they'll get, said Mayor G. Thomas Didomenico, who heard of the ruckus and came to the scene.

"You can't keep those people up all night," the mayor told Lomanno after hearing one truck back in and out of the terminal.

Okay, said Lomanno, who opened the terminal Aug. 7, "rather than a fight I'll move." He stopped his trucks.

And so, back to bed.

IT'S DIFFERENT—That seems to be the verdict of 3-year-old Terry Ann Lee as she and a neighbor, Mark Gootee, also 3, survey the results of a haircut swap. Mark, who came out best, is skeptical. (AP Photofax)

"Say It With Flowers"

PONT AUDEMER, France, Sept. 27 (AP)—Robert Boisier is a traveling man from Paris. His car was stolen there and recovered here, 100 miles away. When Boisier came to claim his car, he found on the back seat a bunch of flowers left by the thief. Attached was a card saying: "Say it with flowers."

Eight New Weapons Go On Display Oct. 4

ABERDEEN, Md., Sept. 27 (AP)—Eight new Army weapons will be displayed publicly for the first time Oct. 4 at the Aberdeen Proving Ground.

The display will be a feature of the 38th annual meeting of the American Ordnance Assn. More than 5,000 industrial and military leaders are expected for the meeting and demonstration.

Included in the new weapons will be an anti-tank guided missile, a new artillery rocket and several small arms items.

Maj. Gen. Carroll H. Deitrick, commanding officer of the proving ground, will be host. Guests will be welcomed by Adm. G. F. Hussey, president of the association, Lt. Gen. E. L. Cummings, chief of the Army's Ordnance Corps, and Secretary of the Army W. K. Brucker.

Inauspicious Date

NEW DELHI, Sept. 27 (AP)—Indian astrologers in Bombay have warned the government against trying to set up new state boundaries Nov. 1. There's a moon eclipse that day, they point out, making it most inauspicious. Bombay's Chief Minister Moraji Desai has complied. He agreed to advance the date to Oct. 31 for his state.

The prison system of punishing criminals did not begin until the end of the 18th century, although isolated prisons were used earlier than that time.

Carveyors, Moving Sidewalks May Be Answer To City Traffic

Closeup of a working model of the Goodyear-Stephens-Adamson passenger belt subway system shows the loading and accelerating methods. Model figures on belt (upper left) move at the same speed as the cars they are about to enter.

By LEONARD J. SNYDER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (Central Press)—Government transit experts in the nation's capital realize that vision and planning are the prerequisites for any attempt to ward off the certainties of tomorrow's city-wide traffic snarls. That's why they, like transit specialists in other cities across the country, are giving daily thought to the problem of more cars and how to cope with them.

While very few major cities have gone beyond the planning stage, it seems likely that sweeping mass transit changes actually will be underway in forward-looking metropolitan areas within the next few years.

In this federal city $400,000 has been set aside to study tomorrow's mass transportation requirements. A full-scale report for streamlining Washington's growing traffic problem will be made by the National Planning commission by October, 1957.

The commission now is engaged in a study of all practical mass transit devices, including moving sidewalks to help pedestrians get about without having to resort to automobiles or buses.

Moving sidewalks or "carveyors" in underground tubes may seem as futurist as space travel when compared to bus travel in downtown Washington today. The same may be said about other major sities, also.

The moving sidewalks is a horizontal and endless belt moving over a flat surface at about 1½ miles an hour, or somewhat less than normal walking speed.

The carveyor system permits a person first to step onto a moving sidewalk and then into a passenger car somewhat larger than that carried by an amusement park ferris wheel.

As the passenger car leaves the loading platform it picks up speed and moves along a high-speed belt until it shows down before reaching the next station. The system was developed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O., and the Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing company of Aurora, Ill.

Last year the first of the moving roads of rubber for pedestrians was opened in the underground station of the Hudson and Manhattan railroad in Jersey City, N. J. It replaced a long, 10-degree, concrete ramp known to commuters as Cardiac alley.

Another speedwalk has been installed at the Sam Houston coliseum in Houston, Tex. The first to span a pedestrian bridge, it can carry 15,000 people an hour from parking areas across a bayou into the auditorium.

Texans anticipate yet another rolling ramp at the Dallas airport. It will be twice as long as the Houston and Jersey City conveyors combined. A similar one is being built at the Philadelphia airport to help move passengers and baggage from the parking lot to terminal to planes.

Moving sidewalks are not new. In 1893, a year before the "Sidewalks of New York" was written, a model made of linked wood slats was demonstrated by the World's Columbia exposition in Chicago. New York, which turned down one moving sidewalk plan, still is thinking about a continuous conveyor with passenger seats to replace the Grand Central-Times Square subway shuttle.

The National Geographic society points out that San Franciscans long ago toyed with a plan for an elevated belt that would run above Market street and deposit passengers directly at the second floor of stores.

Two-tiered sidewalks are not new, either. In the city of Chester in Wales the overhanging roofs of ground-floor buildings in four streets form a continuous arcade for shops and homes fronting on the second story.

"Moving" sidewalks have not been a blessing always, however. In Portugal, Brazil, and other places where mosaic tiles are basic to decor, sidewalks appear to move, but they don't. "Rolling-Motion Square" (Rooie) in Lisbon, named for its undulating mosaic designs, proved so hazardous to traffic that some of it had to be removed.

The snake walks of Rio de Janeiro are famous the world over. For three miles along Copacabana drive the sidewalks pattern zigzags like two giant strips of rickrack.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (INS)—The U. S. sells itself in assorted ways overseas. It sends over a million men. It sends lollypops. It sends a fleet. It sends surplus soybean curd.

And it sends exhibits to international fairs. This year close to 50,000,000 foreigners will goggle at U. S. gee-gaws planted in fairs by the U. S. Department of Commerce's Office of International Trade Fairs.

A Reader's Digest summary of what we show at fairs, written last year, pointed out that we knocked the Russians for a loop by sending Cinerama against them in Bangkok, and a six foot wooden chicken (with a sound track on how and why chickens lay eggs) against their exhibit at Bari, Italy.

We gave away frozen custard in Bogota, Colombia, made from surplus powdered milk from Wisconsin. At Paris's big international fair we drove the mural-conscious Russian exhibitors back to Moscow by presenting a model five-room American home, complete with a good-looking young "mother," working the most modern kitchen gadgets, "father" puttering around the Ford Thunderbird in the carport and working at his power tools, and the "children" (actually children of U. S. troops stationed in France) frolicking with toys in the play room.

An American exhibit in Spain taught that country's citrus packers how to prepare oranges for shipment and concentrate and can their juice. In Karachi we taught Pakistanis (worried about their lagging jute trade) how to turn the stuff into soft fibre for uses beyond burlap bags. Our atoms-for-peace exhibits have struck subtly but hard at the Russian propaganda that we seek only to rattle atomic swords. Our TV shows in Indonesia won millions.

We wowed East Germans by showing — in nearby West Germany—the average wardrobe of an American family, with price tags (the greatest wonder of all) attached to each article, and statistics showing that an American carpenter makes enough money in three weeks to outfit his family for a year.

The government works closely with private industry in these exhibitions, and there again we make strides. Occasionally, a Communist nation will make a great effort to prove that it is hep in the ways of production. At the international trade fair in Lyon, France, Red China proudly showed off heavy machinery, motorcycles and other things not easy to come by. But its representatives had to look out the window when other nations indicated an interest in buying, and asked for delivery dates.

At the Indonesia fair, people lined up for miles to see a typical U.S. voting machine in operation. Electric shavers have literally drawn tens of thousands of spectators. So have exhibits of Lionel trains. His Majesty, Mohammed Zahir Shah, King of Afghanistan, appeared on TV for the first time at the U. S. pavilion at the Kabul fair. "Do it yourself" kits killed the people at Stockholm, Damascus, Vienna and Zagreb.

Trade fairs reach back so far in history that there is no clear story of their beginning. Xerxes, king of the Persians, conducted a whopper about 500 B. C. to "display the riches of the kingdom" and perhaps pick up a bob or two that he had not already stolen. There were trade fairs in Jerusalem in Christ's time, trade fairs in the shade of castle walls through the Middle Ages. Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, put these fairs on their current footing 105 years ago at London's Crystal Palace.

We let U. S. participation largely languish until President Eisenhower urged a $2,000,000 federal support program for such endeavors shortly after going into the White House. Undersecretary of Commerce Walter Williams, Seattle realtor and insurance man, has run our operation from the start. With a limited budget and a world of imagination he probably has contributed as much the winning of the cold war as the whole overseas arms program.

Soviet TV Sets Grow

MOSCOW, Sept. 27 (AP) — Soviet TV sets are growing up. The newspaper Soviet Culture announces production in Leningrad of a new model with a viewing screen about 14x17. This is about a third larger than the size of sets sold now.

Israeli Attack On Jordan Reflects Regained Confidence In Military Capabilities

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Israel's latest big retaliatory attack against the Arabs comes coincidentally with word from Washington that the Jews have regained confidence in their military capabilities since last spring's arms to Egypt.

row over the sale of Communist

The Arab-Israel situation now, however, is not quite as bad as it was last spring.

At that time Egypt's Nasser appeared to be on the verge of a dangerous adventure in nationalism. Israel appealed frantically for arms aid from the Western Allies. At first she didn't get any, then she got a little—planes from France and Canada. But because Israel's skirts were not clean in the matter of her retaliatory border policy, the United States held back.

Now Nasser is involved in what promises to be more of an economic than a military battle with the West, but British and French troops are massed near Egypt and he is in no position to renew his threatening posture toward Israel at the moment.

Jordan has thus fallen heir to the Arab role of keeping up constant pressure against Israel, a role for which she prepared by ousting Gen. Glubb, the Britisher who headed her army for so many years. Syria is in less active support. Political backing comes from all the Arab states.

The latest Israeli assault, following several scattered border incidents instigated by Jordanians, was directed against military outposts rather than Arab villages as sometimes in the past, and will not arouse so much world criticism.

Since there was no attempt to occupy territory, the incident does no take on the aspect of war.

Nevertheless, both sides have flouted the cease-fire agreements negotiated last spring by Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations, and he is threatening to refer the matter back to the Security Council unless there is an immediate local settlement.

In these cases, U.N. Truce Commission decisions have almost always gone against Israel because her retaliatory raids are official and organized army operations, whereas the Arab incursions usually are guerrilla affairs, and sometimes appear to be accidents.

Faculty Salary Boosts Sought By University

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—University of Maryland officials decided today to press for major increases in faculty salaries and a start toward teaching-by-television in their budget proposals for next fiscal year.

The two items were among those prominently mentioned as the university Board of Regents approved budget requests totaling $24,025,777 for the year beginning July 1.

This figure is a $2,818,658 boost over the budget for the current fiscal year.

In a statement issued at today's meeting the board noted that about two-thirds of the increase would go for raises of faculty salaries and for faculty additions.

"This is the main item in the increase," Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, said, "because it is necessary if we are to have a first-class institution."

He said the faculty raises and additions were inescapable because of competing personnel conditions "in industry, government and other educational institutions."

McKeldin Waited In Vain For Turkey

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP) — Maryland's governor told this delayed story of the night before Christmas.

Usually, Gov. McKeldin explained, someone sends a turkey to the Statehouse for the gubernatorial Christmas board.

So, last Christmas he waited for the bird.

He waited and waited.

No turkey.

Apparently, he said "everyone waited for someone else to do it and I had to go out on Christmas Eve and buy a turkey."

He told the tale at a Republican dinner this week to illustrate what he believes is the fallacy of "letting the other fellow do it."

Baltimore Woman Is Killed By Auto

Police said identification was made by Mrs. Mary Krabausanous, who lives in an apartment house where the woman resided.

34 Slot, Pinball Devices Seized

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP) — Thirty-four unlicensed slot and pinball machines were confiscated today in raids on 12 establishments in Baltimore City, Baltimore County and near Chestertown.

The raids by Internal Revenue Service agents were directed by Herman E. Greenland.

Greenland said federal tax stamps had not been purchased for the machines, many of which were located near schools.

Agents had to stand in line at one place for three hours before getting to play a pinball-type machine during their undercover investigation, he said.

Greenland said no arrests were made, but if it develops there were attempts to evade or defeat the tax law deliberately, charges will be filed later.

He explained that federal law requires that a $250 tax stamp be affixed to machines which provide cash prizes, premiums or tokens. If the machine is "for amusement only," a $10 Federal tax stamp is required.

Twenty-four "amusement" machines were confiscated which had the $10 stamp, Greenland said. He said agents had witnessed payoffs during their investigation.

"Am sending same for your campaign. Trust you will make the most of it. Good luck."

Death Inquiry Takes Odd Turn

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP) —The brother, father and sister of ex-Army Maj. Meyer Lynsky, who was believed murdered on his farm, viewed the body today but were unable to identify it.

The relatives saw the badly-decomposed body at the Baltimore City morgue.

The body was found Monday wrapped in blankets beneath some boards and a debris on Lynsky's 300-acre property in Anne Arundel County after neighbors became concerned because he had not picked up his mail.

An autopsy showed a broken nose and broken front tooth. However, Medical Examiner Russell S. Fisher S. Fisher, said he was still unable to give the cause of death.

Sgt. Elmer Hagner of the Anne Arundel County police department, said military dental records have been dispatched from Washington and are expected to provide definite identification.

Seafood, Chickens Lost In Truck Wreck

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 27 (AP) — A cargo of oysters, fish, hard crabs and live chickens was destroyed by fire today when a trailer truck overturned and burned near Glen Burnie.

The driver, John Henry Howard Jr. of Burgess, Va., had to break a window of the cab to escape. He suffered minor leg burns.

Howard said the trailer became disconnected as the vehicle reached the crest of a hill on Crain Highway near Old Stage Rd.

Poultry Contest Team Is Named

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 27 (AP)—Five 4-H Club members will represent Maryland in poultry competition at the exposition of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council in Syracuse, N.Y., Oct. 2-4.

Mrs. Joyce R. Hawkins, Carrol County assistant home demonstration agent, and Francis Lay, Wicomico County assistant agricultural agent, will accompany the Maryland representatives.

Baltimorean Jailed For License Fraud

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Department of Motor Vehicles is cracking down on license frauds and today a man was sentenced to jail within an hour after he sought a license in the name of another man.

Magistrate S. Robert Levinson imposed a six-months jail term on James T. Turnage, 31, Negro.

Reginald Kennedy, a Motor Vehicles Department examiner, testified Turnage made application for a learner's permit in the name of Nelson White. Kennedy said he produced a draft card and other identification cards to show he was White and said he'd never had a permit.

The examiner said a check of the records showed, among other things, that White had his license revoked in February after convictions on charges of speeding and using a license belonging to another person.

Realtors Will Hear Talk On Business In Russia

HARRY S. BOSWELL

A highlight of the fifth semi-annual conference of the Maryland Real Estate Association, to be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel on Friday, October 12, will be observations of the real estate and home building business in Russia, according to James B. Reinhart, local realtor who is chairman of the arrangements committee.

The observations will be made by Harry S. Boswell Jr. of Mt. Rainier, a past president of the state association who recently returned from a 30-day inspection tour of Russia — made at the invitation of the Soviet Republic.

Boswell was one of 18 American builders that made the urban housing tour of 12 cities in Russia. The delegation was made up of members of the National Association of Home Builders, of which he is a member of the executive committee and chairman of the association's community facilities committee.

The state meeting will officially open at 11:30 a. m. on October 12 with a luncheon meeting of the board of governors. This will be followed by a general meeting at 2 p. m. at which the realtors will be welcomed to Cumberland by Mayor Roy W. Eves.

The meeting will feature a panel discussion on "Problems and Benefits Under the 1956 Federal Housing Act — for the Industry and Home Buyers." Members of the panel will be Arthur W. Sherwood, state director for the Federal Housing Administration; C. W. Nixon, state director of the Veterans Administration, and Leslie Wilson, vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of Maryland.

Boswell's address is scheduled for 3 p. m., and another panel discussion is to get under way a half-hour later. The topic will be "Policies and Practices Which Bring Success to Realtors," and participating in the discussion will be Mal Sherman, Parker W. Frames and Sidney D. Cohen, all Baltimore realtors.

Sherman will speak on "Realtor-builder Cooperation in Producing and Marketing Residential Property;" Frames' subject is "Industrial Real Estate," and Cohen will discuss "Commercial Real Estate." A question and answer period will follow, and the session will close with a talk by John W. Steffey, president of the state association, on "Lost opportunities by realtors."

The closing items on the conference agenda are a cocktail hour at 6 p. m. and a dinner at 7 p. m. The only speaker at the dinner will be Fred B. Huebenthal, Chicago realtor who will talk on "What's ahead for real estate."

Huebenthal, according to Reinhart, has operated his own real estate business in Chicago for 30 years and is economic consultant to the Oak Park (Ill.) Federal Savings and Loan Association. He also holds positions in Chicago, Illinois and national realtor associations, Reinhart said.

Davis Elected As Agent Head

David T. Davis, 653 Washington Street, was elected president of the Allegany-Garrett Association of Insurance Agents at a dinner meeting Wednesday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Other officers elected for the coming year were Dan W. Hershberger, Grantsville, vice president; David P. Goodfellow, LaVale, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Bert J. Graham, city, state director and John E. Geare, city, alternate state director.

Retiring officers are Bert J. Graham, president; James B. Reinhart, vice president and alternate state director; and Robert E. Barnard Jr., state director.

There was a discussion of the fall convention of the Maryland Association of Insurance Agents, of which the local two-county group is a co-extensive board. The convention this year will be held in Baltimore. Last year's convention of the state association was held in Cumberland.

AREA BRIDE AND GROOM—Miss Rae Dawn Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Kline, Springfield, W. Va., was married to Pfc. Marvin Clinton Hott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hott, Springfield, W. Va., Saturday, September 22, in Centre Street Methodist Church parsonage at Cumberland, by Rev. Dr. Howard M. Amoss, pastor. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ritter. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, after which the couple left for a honeymoon in Canada. The bride wore a blue nylon princess style street-length dress and carried a white prayer book and bouquet of white pompoms. Her matron of honor also wore blue. Court Hears Criminal Appeals

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris heard a criminal appeal case and one on criminal information yesterday in Circuit Court.

John R. Anderson, Midland junk yard operator, received a suspended two-year sentence to the House of Correction on a charge of receiving stolen goods. He was tried on criminal information supplied the court by James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney.

Getty told the court that Anderson purchased an iron rail from two youths and that the metal had been stolen from a mine at Ocean. Anderson entered a plea of guilty.

In an appeal from Trial Magistrates' Court, Joseph Luckiewicz, LaVale, was found guilty of operating a car while intoxicated and was fined $110 by Judge Harris.

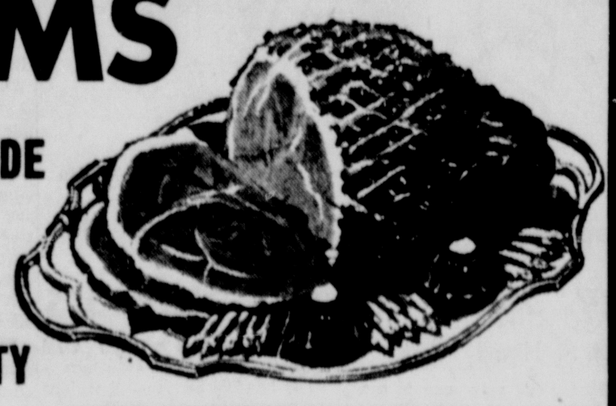

Luckiewicz was arrested April 20 on the motor law charge. Getty informed the court that it was the man's second such offense.

Judge Harris said he would recommend that the man's driver's license be permanently revoked.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Get A Head Start

There's one sure way to get a head start on stand-out good looks—and that's to carry your head proudly. A pretty face isn't half as impressive as a gracefully poised, chin-up head on a straight column of neck on straight shoulders.

You may be too young to have given a thought to a crepy neck or a double chin, but if you're letting your head droop, you've taken the first step toward both of them. And if you follow your nose with your head jutted forward, you're heading for a dowager's hump no matter how distant it is in the future.

What's even more important to you now is that you simply aren't as attractive as you can be if the habitual position of your head doesn't check with correct posture. See if it does, this way:

Stand before a large mirror so you can see yourself in profile with the aid of a hand mirror. Look carefully now — is your neck line the same length in front as in back? It should be. If the line of the back of your neck is longer than the front line, you very surely are carrying your head too far forward.

Now stand up straighter and raise your head until your chin is parallel to the floor, the tip of your ear is directly over your shoulder blade, and the two outer lines of neck are the same length. It's easy to see that this is important by how much better you look, but there's another vital reason.

The head is heavy — it weighs ten pounds or more. Neck bones and muscles are too delicate to support it. The weight of the head must be carried directly over the spinal column because only the spinal column can support it properly. If it doesn't, undue strain on the neck muscles causes them to slacken and hasten the flabbiness that will eventually make you look old.

Tomorrow—At your fingertips.

LOAN MANAGER ADVISES PEOPLE NOT TO BORROW

JAMES ADAMS

A person should never borrow unnecessarily, according to the local manager of Aetna Finance Co.

Instead, it is wise to consider first the purpose for which a loan is desired. If a loan will pay old bills, or enable a person to buy for less by paying cash, or consolidate debts and reduce payments, it may be worthwhile. For such purposes, the Aetna Company makes loans of $25 to $1500 on signature, furniture, or other plan. Fast, one-trip service is offered. The Aetna manager advises people whether a loan is needed or not.

There is no charge or obligation for consultation or counsel on any kind of money problem. Anyone interested may see or phone the Aetna manager, Aetna Finance Co., 48 N. Centre St. or Dial PA 4-5800. (Loans over $300 made under Md. Industrial Finance Act).

Late Selloff Knocks Props From Rising Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP) —A late selloff knocked the props from a slightly higher stock market today and chalked-up another decline.

Prices of leading issues slipped from fractions to around 2 points. A scattering of specialities made gains.

Volume dipped to 1,770,000 shares compared with 2,370,000 yesterday and was the lowest in nearly three weeks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 70 cents to $175.80.

The background of business and economic news was mixed early in the day. There was a rise in rail carloadings and auto output but layoffs were reported in the appliance field and inventory problems among farm equipment makers. Later in the day, however, came more news of fighter money, one of the main elements depressing the market recently. It came in the form of higher rates for commercial credit. Brokers said this was a factor in today's decline.

The day's most active stock was American Telephone, off ⅝ at 170 on 32,200 shares. Second was National Container, unchanged at 34½ on 29,900 shares. Third was Santa Fe, off ⅞ at 26.

Next came U.S. Steel, off ¾ at 65⅝, and New England Electric, Kaiser Aluminum dropped 1⅝, continuing earlier losses this week in anticipation of lower earnings made public after today's close. Aluminium Ltd. dropped 1⅞, Alcoa ⅝ and International Nickel ⅝.

HORSES AND WOMEN

"I may be 40 but I still rate whistles." Women who have retained their youthful figure frequently say that. Or words to that effect. I have also notely shapely beauties described as having a "whistle figure." However, whistling as an attractive female passes by is rated a breach of etiquette. Perhaps it shouldn't be. Consider what a morale builder a few whistles are to some of our countrywomen. Perhaps the etiquette experts can be persuaded to approve of a discreet complimentary whistle. Also some enterprising manufacturer should make a whistle to use as a means of expressing admiration for a passing female. A whistle with a long, low sweet tone.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. What was the coldest day in New York City history? A. February 14, 1936, when the thermometer registered 14 degrees below zero . . . Q. What is the real name of Tyrone Power, the actor? Where was he born? A. The name he uses professionally is his real name. Was also his father's name. And his grandfather's. He is of a third generation of brilliant actors, all stars. He was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. His father was born in London, England. His grandfather was born in Watford County, Ireland.

SOUTHPAWS

Is a left-handed first baseman more valuable to a team than a right-hander? In my opinion he is not. The claim of the supporters of southpaw initial sackers is that such first basemen are better qualified to figure in plays calling for throws to other bases. That is too slight an advantage to merit much consideration. Right-handers are steadier than left-handers. They steady an infield. The southpaws are usually temperamental and easily rattled. They are also inclined to fancy "show-off" playing such as overdoing the one-hand catch.

STAR STRATEGY

During World War II it was believed Hitler governed his actions by astrology. So strong was this belief that the British government assigned astrologers to check on Der Fuehrer's moves to ascertain if they had astrological connections. None was found. The fact was that Hitler did not believe in astrology. Only made it seem he did to try to outwit the enemy.

Shakespeare made a number of references to astrology. As for example in "King Lear"—"The stars above us govern our conditions." Also in "A Winter's Tale," as follows:

There's some ill planet reigns:
I must be patient till the heavens look
With an aspect more favorable.

Then there is the oft quoted passage from "Julius Caesar"—

The fault, Dear Brutus, is not in our stars
But in ourselves, that we are underlings.

WIVES

Elias Howe is credited with inventing the sewing machine but some people say his wife gave him the idea. Perhaps she did. It could be your wife has some good patentable ideas arising from her experience as a home manager. Talk things over with her. Also don't fail to read all you can about the lives of great inventors. From that you will undoubtedly get some ideas on how to proceed in addition to it being a builder up of your morale.

WEIGHT

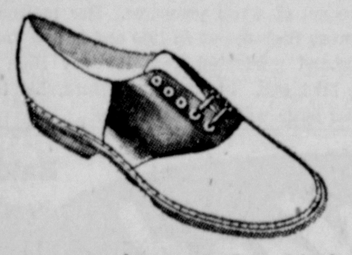

I am asked if I know of any successful method for putting on weight. Can't say I do. However, I understand that Jimmy Stewart, the elongated cinema luminary, when desirous of putting on weight, was advised by a physician to drink eight ice cream sodas a day.

PRESIDENT WELCOMED — J. Carl Burdette (left) grand president of the Baltimore and Ohio veteran Employes Association is shown here being welcomed by Leo C. Wilcox, president of the Keyser B&O Veteran Unit, as he paid his first official visit to the Keyser area group. Burdette succeeded Roy E. Collins of New York as president. Wilcox is also vice president of the railroad's system-wide veterans association and has been closely associated with Burdette for several years.

Paper Mill Expansion To Boost Area Economy

The announcement of the $50,000,000 expansion program for the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company is a major boost to the recuperating economy of Western Maryland.

The future was very bleak for residents of the area in 1949 after the major industry, Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation, severely curtailed its work force, cutting out about 7,000 jobs.

But the next year, the paper company started a $10,000,000 modernization program to give the section a timely shot in the arm, when the economy was sagging badly.

The work force at Luke, numbering around 1,900, has been an important part of the industrial scene of this section.

The current expansion program calls for the addition of 400 permanent employes.

And there will be a job increase in related industries such as timbering, transportation and others.

During the transition period from 1949, the decline of Amcelle as an employment center, to this year, there have been other setbacks.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway converted to Diesel power, throwing a lot of steam locomotive repairmen out of work.

But the B&O started a half-million dollar project for the construction of a Diesel repair shop here.

That was the first phase of an overall plan to have Cumberland as the Diesel repair center for several divisions.

Then following that, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in September 1954 announced plans to build a $34,000,000 plant at North Branch.

On September 8 of this year actual production of glass began there with 250 persons on the payroll. When the plant is completed in another year, there will be several hundred more people working there.

All during the transition period, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory maintained increasing employment with the work force there numbering about 750 persons.

Small plants came into being such as the Allegany Instruments Company and Artmore Plastics.

Since 1950, the county spent $3,500,000 in one school building project and another $850,000 in a supplementary building program.

In 1949, the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project started and when it is finished in 1958, $18,500,000 will have been spent.

The county started to get its share of the state's 12-year road program and today there are a large number of projects accounting for millions of dollars under way in Allegany and Garrett counties.

As for the future, which today is bright, there is a prospect of a $20,000,000 government project being located in the Keyser area.

With the revival of the coal industry, in the Georges Creek section and Garrett County, it is understood that two large firms are surveying that section for development.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Despite Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' denial that U. S. economic aid to help Britain and France get oil without using the Suez Canal will cost a half billion dollars, the truth is that no one actually knows what such a program might cost.

At the present, Dulles plans only to advance loans to the British and French for the purchase of American oil. It is estimated that this will cost the United States $150 million a year.

State Department experts say this government has no plans to help the two allies finance the extra cost of re-routing their ships around Africa with Middle Eastern oil.

However, this could be a big item and U. S. officials admit that this country might have to step in with more dollar aid if the British and French are unable to bear the economic burden of the longer trips.

If the British and French want more assistance they probably will get it—and no one is willing to estimate what the total cost would be if their economies begin to suffer from the increased shipping costs.

Kefauverites

Among other uncertain factors in the 1956 presidential campaign is the influence that will be exerted in behalf of the Democratic ticket by a comparative newcomer to American politics, the "Kefauverite."

Some experts say that this individual may be an important factor in some states, such as Wisconsin and Minnesota. Although there are a great many people who have little admiration for Estes Kefauver, there are many whose eyes gleam with near-fanaticism when the Democratic vice presidential nominee's name is mentioned.

Political observers say that some state labor leaders belong in the company of those who have become emotionally swept up by the Kefauver wave. Thus, the Kefauverite becomes a counterpart of the Eisenhowerite.

What magic the lanky senator uses to attract such devotion is a mystery to political analysts. However, one senator summed it up this way, "People look at him and they feel that he is like an old oak—he is here today and they think he will be here tomorrow."

Minton Successor

The latest word from White House sources is that President Eisenhower will probably wait until after election day before choosing a successor to Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton, whose resignation is effective October 15.

There are several reasons. First, the President feels it would not be a good idea to nominate a new justice too long before Congress reconvenes and the Senate has a chance to confirm his selection.

Second, Mr. Eisenhower feels it would be better for the country if the nomination were made by whoever is elected president.

Mostly, White House sources say, the chief executive would rather wait until after election day to make sure that any nomination he might make does not get involved in the political campaign.

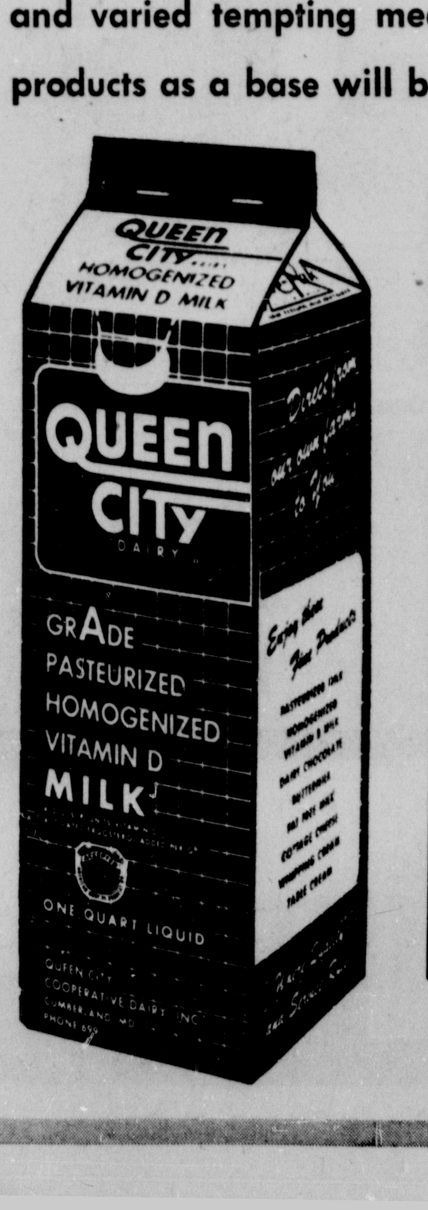

Senate Races

Whether the Democrats retain or the Republicans regain control of the Senate in the coming elections hinges on the outcome of contests in six key states.

The states in question are Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, California and Colorado. However, the races are so close that political observers in Washington are hard put to say which way they will go.

Two of the hottest battles will occur in Washington and Oregon. Washington Gov. Arthur Langlie, who keynoted the Republican convention, battles Democratic incumbent Warren Magnuson. In Oregon ex-Gov. Douglas McKay will have the battle of his political life against Senator Wayne Morse, a former Republican who turned Democrat.

Both Republican candidates have the blessing of President Eisenhower, but it is difficult to say whether the President's coattails will be sufficiently strong to pull them into the Senate.

Earns Living Shoplifting — Legally

By BRIAN BELL, JR.

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Shoplifting is her business but Mary Dragoti isn't ashamed of it. In fact she thinks this store stealing is a nice, respectable way to make a living.

Miss Dragoti, Bronx, N. Y., practices her trade in an Allentown department store. A couple of times a week Miss Drogoti journeys to Allentown, and saunters around the counters, seeing how much she can walk off with. If a salesgirl catches her in the act, the employe gets a reward from the store.

It's all part of a plan worked out by Max Hess, president of Hess Brothers department store, to put a curb on shoplifting which he says costs retailers more than 300 million dollars a year.

Miss Dragoti not only practices her legal larceny at the store but she lectures to store employes about the tricks of the trade. She wears a mask for this purpose, pointing out she couldn't do much shoplifting if everyone in the store recognized her face.

"The store president is the only one in Allentown who knows what I look like," says Miss Dragoti, who also acts as a store detective. "For security reasons I rarely appear in court, even after I make an arrest.

Starting her department store career as a salesgirl, Miss Dragoti was quick to spot shoplifters. Soon this peculiar skill led to her appointment as a store detective. Recently she has branched out into legal shoplifting.

The biggest offender in shoplifting is the American housewife, Miss Dragoti says. But she points out that lawyers, nurses, students and even clergymen have been caught and convicted for shoplifting.

Miss Dragoti knows all the skills practiced by store thieves.

A few are:

1. The shopping bag: A woman may pick up a slip from the counter, hold it high to hide her other hand which is busily stuffing articles into a shopping bag.

2. The booster box: A tied up package with a flap on one end which opens like a door. Shoplifters can quickly slip merchandise into this innocent looking carryall.

3. Booster belts and booster bloomers: Worn under coats and dresses, these garments have hooks onto which thieves hang the merchandise.

4. Fitting room thief: A woman may slip a dress over the one she wore into the store—then return dresses left in the dressing room by a previous customer to the attendant.

5. Special coats: Slits in cuffs and lining or special pockets often are used by shoplifters to carry away items.

Miss Dragoti enjoys her work and says it keeps her busy.

"There's something new to learn every day," she says. "You've got to keep on your toes to stay ahead of the shoplifters. They're a quick witted bunch who are always thinking up new tricks."

Legal shoplifter, Mary Dragoti demonstrates one of the tricks used by many shoplifters who slip an object from a counter into a special pocket in their coats (inset).

Revamping Of Chinese Writing System Urged

HONG KONG, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Chinese Communist party was told today that the written Chinese language must be overhauled to help push Red China ahead in science and culture.

The speaker was Prof. Wu Yu-chang, chief architect of China's plan to replace the ancient Chinese picture words with a Latin-type alphabet.

Wu said a final decision would be made soon on the alphabet. A 30-leter alphabet is being tested on a small scale.

The Communists are also attempting to teach on a nationwide scale a single spoken language to replace the many dialects.

Some 25 million acres of American soil now are under irrigation.

A demonstration of the best known methods of hair and scalp treatments to be given to the citizens of our city.

WHAT IS YOUR REASON FOR BALDNESS?

ALL MERRILL CLIENTS IN THE VICINITY OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ARE INVITED TO APPEAR AT FORT CUMBERLAND HOTEL, ON SATURDAY ONLY, SEPTEMBER 29, 12 NOON UNTIL 9 P. M. THESE PRIVATE INDIVIDUAL REEXAMINATIONS ARE FREE OF CHARGE AND ARE A PART OF THE ESTABLISHED SERVICE TO OUR CLIENTS.

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Sept. 24. In an interview here today, G. O. Abbott, international hair and scalp consultant and Director of Merrill Hair & Scalp Consultants, said: "There are many different scalp conditions that may cause men and women to lose their hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all can correct all these different conditions," he explained.

READ WHAT A FEW OF THE MANY SATISFIED MERRILL CLIENTS HAVE SAID ABOUT THEIR HOME TREATMENT IN THEIR UNSOLICITED REPORTS; THERE ARE MANY MORE IN OUR FILES:

Since I have taken the three months treatment, I have new hair on the top of my head. My scalp isn't dry and itchy and my hair is more manageable. I am well pleased with it.

Miss Alice Jacobson
Lynden, Washington

This is to notify you of the wonderful results I have seen in the first three months. Merrill has certainly done all they said. I am happy with the progress I have made and with the healthy new hair.

D. L. Strickland
Dothan, Alabama

There is not room here for me to sing the praises of Merrill the way they deserve. Write me and I will gladly testify as to what they have done for me.

Vernon Whitehorn
Phillips, Texas

Guaranteed

Not everyone can be helped by the Merrill Home Treatment. Only those we think we can help are accepted for treatment. Those who are accepted for Merrill Home Treatment are given this guarantee, "If you are not completely satisfied at the end of thirty days, your money will be returned." This is only because most people are skeptical of claims that hair can grow on balding heads. Usually when a person avails himself of the Merrill treatment, his skepticism disappears.

No Cure-All

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Abbott emphasizes. "If there is still fuzz, that hair follicle of the scalp is still producing hair. Merrill's users have grown hair. We have many reports testifying that after using our home treatment, weak fuzz has developed into healthy mature hair. Proper use of this home treatment may bring about a healthy scalp condition which will help the body to produce new hair. If there is any fuzz at all, a healthy scalp condition may be restored, and the hair may grow normally again as nature intended." There is one thing Abbott wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temple or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

Free Examination

In addition to reexamining present clients, the Merrill method of home treatment will be demonstrated to others who are interested. The examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. The Consultant makes no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After examining the person, he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost. Regular reports are made to the Merrill firm in Oklahoma City to check the progress of the home treatment.

2 Glass Firms Still Uncertain About Future

Officials of the two-burned out glass companies in LaVale held off a decision on rebuilding yesterday until final reports are made to insurance adjusters.

However, George W. Hinkle, plant manager for Cumberland Glass Company, which along with the Queen Glass Company, was destroyed by a $400,000 fire early Wednesday, said last night that he is hopeful of being able to rebuild at the same location.

The fire levelled the three-story building housing the Cumberland Glass Company and the connecting 1½-story stone building occupied by the Queen Glass concern.

Hinkle said that if plans materialize he is contemplating a more modern one-story plant site at the same location in LaVale, which he termed ideal for the manufacture of handmade custom glassware.

The manager also said that he is desirous of getting into production again as soon as possible if at all because the present time is the peak season for the production of the company's glassware.

Hinkle also said that the company's records were destroyed in the fire and that most of the 45 employes had a week and a day's wages due them.

The company is making every effort to get the payroll records completed as quickly as possible and an early announcement is expected as to when and where the concern's workers will receive their paychecks, he said.

The Queen Glass Company, a separate cutting and etching firm, also was planning to bring payrolls up to date as soon as possible to tide the 15 employes of the plant over the temporary status of their unemployment.

Both concerns also are working on plans to make some possible move to aid the workers until they can be employed again.

Scarlett Obtains Building Permit

John A. Scarlett, 516 Bedford Street, yesterday obtained a permit from the City Engineer's officeto build a $6,500 brick house on Lot No. 2, Shades Lane.

The one-story dwelling will be 44 feet by 28 feet in size and will have a 20-foot setback from the street. It will have two 10-foot side yards. The lot has a 100-foot frontage and extends to a depth of 200 feet.

TO SPEAK AT CHURCH — Miss Meredythe Scheflen will speak at First Methodist Church this weekend, according to Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor. Mrs. Scheflen recently returned from Bolivia, where she spent a term in the mission fields. She will show colored slides of her work after a church fellowship supper today at 5:30 p. m.

Advance Gifts Third Meeting Set Today

The third report meeting of the Advance Gifts section of the Cumberland Community Chest fund campaign will be held today at Fort Cumberland Hotel at 12:15 p. m.

The group which has already raised $41,905 will make its final report in the drive to obtain its goal of $73,000 in this year's campaign for $137,268.

Among the solicitors expected to report will be the physicians and surgeons who have campaigned under the sponsorship of the Allegany Garrett Medical Association.

County Orders School Patrol Equipment

Some $295.50 worth of belts and badges for the school patrol have been ordered by Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation for the Allegany County public schools.

The Board of County Commissioners received a copy of Ramey's order because the county commissioners will pay the bill. Each year the annual levy list adopted in April by the county commissioners includes a $300 item for the school patrol.

Included in Ramey's order are 300 patrol belts, 60 cents each, $180; 70 large patrol belts, 65 cents each, $45.50; 300 patrol badges, 20 cents each, $60; 20 lieutenant badges, 25 cents each, $5; 20 captain badges, 25 cents each, $5.

Phone Service To Be Restored By Noon Today

Telephone service had been restored in 118 toll and 24-hour circuits and approximately 1,160 telephones in LaVale by 10 p. m. last night, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company officials said.

Crews have been working in 12-hour shifts around the clock to restore to operation the 2,800 telephones which were knocked out when the glass plant fire in LaVale Wednesday severed four huge communications cables.

Robert G. Garner, manager of the local telephone company, said last night the crews from Hagerstown and Frederick had been sent to Cumberland to help in restoring the damaged wires and cables.

With work progressing "very satisfactorily," he said, the company expected to have service restored in all telephones in the area by noon today.

As work has progressed in splicing and testing the circuits and individual telephone wires, company officials have spent many hours calling subscribers to notify them of the restoration of service. Calls were completed until 10 o'clock last night and will be resumed again at 7:30 this morning until all affected telephone subscribers have been notified.

In addition to the crews working at the site of the fire, where a gap of more than 100 feet was burned in the cables, company officials have worked throughout the night in the office to bring about the completion of the work.

As of 10 p. m., Garner said, there were 247 circuit lines and 490 telephones yet to be restored. He also noted that temporary wiring and cable used to bridge the toll and emergency circuits will be replaced with permanent lines at night so that there will be no interference with the heavy volume of calls during the day.

Garner also expressed his and the company's appreciation for the patience and understanding shown by the customers in the time of the emergency.

Charles A. Smith, plant wire chief for the Cumberland exchange, said cable splicers, helpers and construction crews, worked around the clock to complete the work as quickly as possible.

City Tax Collections Hit $260,787 Level

City tax collections since 13,000 tax bills were mailed out September 18 totaled $260,787.09 at the close of business yesterday, the office of City Tax Collector George E. Davis reported.

That total already tops the September 1955 figure of $259,948.58 by $838.51 with one more collection day remaining in the month.

Nearly 22.5 per cent of the $1,161,300 expected on the basis of the $73,500,000 assessment on property in the city has been received. Monday, October 22, is the final day to pay the city taxes without the addition of penalties.

For Standard Time

To The Editor of The News
Sir:

Well, well and a Ho-Hum.

Here we are again at the end of six months of Confusion Time and about to enter on another season of Common Sense Time. When, oh when, will the people wake up to the fact that they are just kidding themselves while Old Sc', as for the centuries past, continues to give us the day, and the moon and stars the nights, without confusion, while we intrude their office with our senseless fumbling. Can't you hear them laughing out loud at us?

Advocates of the so-called Daylight Silly Time say it gives more time for recreation, while they never have had so much leisure time because of the shorter work hours. But much wants more.

If any group wants longer evenings (which they must pay back the next morning), let them post a notice, say on Friday the 13th, saying that we will begin work or open our stores one hour earlier and close one hour earlier, which would be the same thing in effect, but leave me and my old alarm clock keep on ticking away on standard time.

The past summer I had occasion to make a trip which took me through five different states, and was I dumb! I imagine the ticket agent and conductors on the trains and buses thought I was an M. C. conducting a quiz program to follow schedules and information, or misinformation. I was not always sure whether I had reached my destination or was on my way back.

I would ask an agent what time I could leave Tim-buc-too and arrive at Cabawissi, and he would look up his schedule and advise (?) me. Then I would start my quizzing whether he was talking Daylight Silly Time or Standard Old Sol Time. At one point where I was to meet a friend he was an hour ahead of time, and another one an hour late.

After covering the five states I found it necessary to add a sixth, and called it "State of Confusion." Ho Hum and another Ho Hum.

Let's hope we survive.

Frederick Street Surface Dug Up

The new concrete surface on Frederick Street, laid only a little over a year ago, has just been dug up in the vicinity of Fectig Avenue.

Area residents said the surface was broken for the first time for the laying of new gas and water lines. A new concrete strip has been laid where the water line was installed.

Welcome Expansion Of The Luke Plant

The announcement that the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plans to spend $50,000,000 in expansion of the already huge plant at Luke can be likened to a transfusion pumped into the economic lifeblood of this entire area.

That the announcement of this gigantic expansion program is welcome news goes without saying.

What is particularly fine about it is this deep-seated expression of confidence and satisfaction with the Allegany County area by one of its most stable and dependable big industries.

The decision to expand the Luke plant rather than to build new facilities at some other location is a reflection of the company's policy that communities in which it has operated should have the first opportunity to gain benefits to be derived from expanded operations.

It is true that this big expansion program had to overcome some pretty tough stumbling blocks before it could be undertaken but the company's perserverance and patience in meeting these problems one by one makes the community doubly appreciative of the effort put forth in the interest of this area.

Of course, as John A. Luke, the plant manager, pointed out in his announcement, this area has the basic essentials—dependable people, the wood, water and a strategic location in relation to markets—that are so necessary to long-term growth.

Mr. Luke said too, in effect, that the expansion program would not have been possible without the Savage River Dam, again pointing up one of the values of this impounding reservoir, that of making the Potomac River more than adequate for the water needs of industry.

Neither was Mr. Luke unmindful of assistance in overcoming roadblocks given by Allegany Countians and our neighboring West Virginians. He singled out especially Owen Hitchins, treasurer of the Upper Potomac River Commission, U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg, and Senator Matthew M. Neely and Representative Harley O. Staggers of West Virginia.

We are not aware of all the contributions to the success of the venture by Messrs. Hitchins, Neely and Staggers, but we have heard somewhat indirectly of some of the efforts of Senator Beall in behalf of the expansion of the Luke operation. Suffice it to say that Senator Beall has again demonstrated his happy faculty of getting things done and done right for the interests of Allegany County.

Nonetheless, the preliminary obstacles have been overcome and those that now lie ahead are those to be solved by architects, engineers, designers and plant management. We have no doubt that the job of getting the expansion program moving and completed is in good hands.

It scarcely seems necessary to recite here all the advantages that will accrue to Allegany County and this area from this expansion program. To sum it up briefly, it undoubtedly will have a profound effect on the economy of the area and assures us of the company's faith in the general community.

It's good to have a good citizen like the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in our midst.

These Days

Hiss Rides Again

It is impossible to keep Alger Hiss out of the 1956 campaign because Harry Truman brought him in. Had Harry Truman not attempted to exonerate by his ipse dixit Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White and Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, it is probable that no one would have bothered to bring up the subject. As it is, Adlai Stevenson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt were both asked their opinions of Harry Truman's opinion of Alger Hiss and each responded.

Adlai Stevenson said:

". . . In 1952, four years ago, I made this statement in Cleveland, in a speech in Cleveland. I said this. 'As I have repeatedly said, I have never doubted the verdict of the jury which convicted him.' This is the end of the quotation. Nothing has happened since then to change my views."

Eleanor Roosevelt, on "Meet The Press," said:

". . . I think that Mr. Truman's first reaction when he was asked long ago in the very early days what he thought of Mr. Hiss was that no one who had had that amount of trust could be a traitor. My own reaction was the same at the time. Just as I feel today that the accusations against Mr. Javits are nonsense, that he may have been naive and he may have been foolish on some points but that he is not a traitor, that was the way I reached originally. he court decided otherwise and therefore I think that's settled and done with and you have to wait until something new turns up."

Mrs. Roosevelt's remarks give a red herring to each party. And while it is true that judges are human, like presidents' widows, we are a nation governed by laws, through courts, and as long as the processes of law are duly followed, the verdicts of the courts are binding. Alger Hiss had two trials and a number of appeals which upheld the verdict against him. He served his term in prison and he is not a candidate for public office in this election.

Harry Truman did everyone a bar turn when he dragged his private red herring into this campaign. As a diversionary effort, it is just no good. And the only one it could really harm is his own party.

At any rate, there seems to be no enthusiasm for dropping all the important questions that need to be answered about taxes, the high cost of living, the high cost of government, the elimination of small enterprise, the trend toward the impoverishment of the middle class and a hundred others and substituting for them a discussion of the wickedness of Alger Hiss who will undoubtedly not be appointed secretary of state no matter who is elected president. Surely such adventurers as these young men of the 1930s who were going to remake the human race in Stalin's image are now reduced to oblivion and our problem today is how to prevent imperialist Russia from destroying our country and our civilization, without doing it to ourselves as a result of suicidal phobias.

Pfft!

"Nationalism" Shakes Confidence Of Investors

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — These are perilous times for the people who give their money and energy trying to make the world economy function — perilous because the confidence of investors is being shaken by the widespread but unthinking applause for "nationalism."

So accustomed have many people become to the idea that governments—and particularly the United States government—must furnish without restriction or limit the capital for "underdeveloped" countries that there has been a tendency to overlook the conditions that could cause both the government and the private investor to shun the so-called "nationalistic" countries.

Growing More Hostile

This very week there's a meeting here of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, and naturally there is much discussion about financing economic development where needed throughout the world. It is no secret that Harold MacMillan, the British chancellor of the exchequer, who is in Washington for the meeting, thinks that Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal has seriously shaken the confidence necessary for private investment in underdeveloped nations. But what is more and more significant is that public opinion in countries like Britain and the United States is growing more hostile to the extension of government loans to governments which have no respect for law or equity.

Perhaps the best statement of principles — what is right and what is wrong on this subject—has just come from M. J. Rathbone, president of the Standard Oil Company (N. J.), in a copyrighted interview in U. S. News & World Report. He declares:

"On the question of nationalization and the Suez problem, there is one thing I'd like to say: We think that the great issue there is not whether the government has the right to nationalize property or not, but whether it has the right to abrogate contracts. I don't think anyone questions the right of a government to nationalize something in its country which is not covered by a formal contract.

"For instance, if you should build a power plant in Cairo, just as a business venture without any contract with the Egyptian government, and the Egyptian government wanted to nationalize it, I don't think you would say a word about it. All you would ask is that they would give you satisfactory compensation.

Concession Contract Different

"But where you have a concession contract with a government, it is an entirely different situation. In effect, a concession contract means that the sovereign government has given a private individual the right to do something.

"Now, as you know, the subsoil in practically every country in the world outside of the United States belongs to the government. So that, if you want to come into any foreign country and develop subsoil wealth there, no matter whether it is oil, coal, iron or what, you make a contract with the government. Now, the government itself owns it and it has a perfect right to find it if it can. But when it elects not to do so and gives a concession to a private investor to do that, it is done for a specific period of time and with specific benefits to the government. And under those conditions we think that it is immoral and completely unethical for a government to grant a concession under those circumstances, and then unilaterally to abrogate that concession.

"I think that the thing we need in the world today, and need most badly, is a clear enunciation of this principle which I have just talked about here by our government and all the other governments—recognition of the fact that they don't have to give these concessions but, once they do, then they ought to abide by them.

"If we don't have that kind of a set of rules and that kind of atmosphere in the world, we are not going to have foreign investments in, nor have the development of, the natural resources of many countries. Important as the Suez Canal is, it is very clear to me that much more important is the acceptance of this principle —that once a sovereign government makes a contract which it doesn't have to make, that contract ought to be respected. And if it isn't, they just simply aren't going to get the capital investment and know-how and markets and all of the other things that go with developing a country."

Must Plan Alternatives

Secretary of State Dulles in his television interview on "Meet the Press" has emphasized that the Treaty of 1888 gave the Suez Canal users certain rights. That treaty has 12 more years to run. If treaties are to be superseded by "nationalization" of private properties without regard to concessions given by treaty, Mr. Dulles says "alternatives" to the canal will have to be planned. He points out that "it takes a little time, but you can get tankers—these big tankers—and it's cheaper for them to go around the Cape of Good Hope than it is to use the canal." He added:

"Egypt is losing in other ways far more than the equivalent of canal revenues . . . Ordinary business is drying up . . ."

So economic force becomes more important in many ways than military force and it is wholly voluntary. Investors — either private or governmental—cannot be compelled to put their money in countries which violate treaties and take an arbitrary or capricious attitude toward private contracts.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

You can have all of Saturday's children if the national committee gets 'em on Tuesdays.

What both committees would like is a five-hat majority in the senatorial cloak room.

Which means they must get out the vote by hook, crook or good red herring. When you're counting noses you can be out-sniffed.

Both parties need all the help they can claim in the negotiable districts and susceptible areas. So far they have hypothecated the 48 commonwealths to the optimistic hilt.

Back in 1812 Gerry of Massachusetts oiled a deadlock by manipulating Essex real estate into an extra precinct. They still tag it gerrymandering but it's as unconstitutional as a U-turn on a bridge.

Texas is the only state that can legally sub-divide it's parliamentarian real estate. Anytime it wants to break up housekeeping it can create four more governors, eight more senators and a remuda of congressmen.

Gerry was a Republican but before heaving the first dornick let's gander the record. The Republicans of 1812 are the Democrats of today. That episode was balanced some campaigns ago when Al Smith became a lifelong Republican for two days.

Al sat in the window of the Union League on Park Avenue. Looking exactly as if Barney had started an uptown branch.

The World's Oldest Twins And Other Stories

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How long have the oldest twins lived? Up to now, the record seems to be held by identical twin sisters born a century ago, who are said to be alive in a Stockholm infirmary. According to the Journal of Gerontology, they have the same type of personality and have aged in a similar manner. The gals are unusually active for their age and have enjoyed good health until recent years.

These women were separated most of their life except during childhood and in later years. One emigrated to the United States with her husband when she was 48 years old and ran a restaurant for 17 years. The other opened a bakery in Stockholm after her children grew up. They are now widowed and have been inseparable since 1939.

Dr. James W. Hendrick of San Antonio reported an unusual case in the April issue of Surgery. He was asked to see a 9-year-old Mexican girl with a giant tongue. The organ was so large it protruded from the mouth and had to be supported by a sling worn around the head.

She never had learned to talk and lived on liquids, mainly goat's milk. In addition, her front teeth were forced out by the protrusion. Dramatic results followed plastic surgery. Within 72 hours the litttle girl was able to swallow soft foods. Corrections were made on the jaw and she was taught to talk. The youngster now has a normal appearance.

A year or so ago lightning struck the tea stall at the Ascot race course in England. Flashes ran along the railing and among the rainsoaked fans hovering beneath a protective canopy. Many were thrown to the ground; others were dazed and some were unable to move for a few moments. Two were killed and 46 were hospitalized.

The majority suffered burns and a number had neurological lesions as a result of damage to the brain and spinal cord. A 38-year-old woman complained of deafness and examination disclosed that the bolt had damaged both eardrums. One of the casualties was a pregnant woman but her child was unharmed.

Lightning and thunder are uncommon in Great Britain with only 10 to 12 deaths being recorded annually. By comparison, the rate in the U. S. is 400. The stands at Ascot were protected by lightning rods but the tea stall was under a tent with metal topped props that were not grounded. Each pole acted as a lightning rod and the mass of people in wet clothes suffered the consequences.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Seeking to avoid publicity, Marlon Brando registered at a motel recently as "Herman Melville." The clerk was a college grad, however, and countered, "Well, well, Hermie, don't you remember me? I'm Moby the whale!" Brando blew him to a steak dinner.

Say, we haven't had one like this in some time: Gail Benham insists that we tell you about a leopard who visited his optometrist to complain, "Every time I look at my wife, I see spots before my eyes."

"What do you expect?" scoffed the optometrist. "You're a leopard, aren't you?

"Sure," conceded the leopard, "but my wife is a zebra."

Heard about the two beer drinkers who staged a terrific brawl at Toots Shor's the other evening? They were at lager heads.

Tammany Hall's De Sapio Loafs On Adlai Stevenson In New York

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—As it looks today, Adlai Stevenson and the Democrats will lose the most populous state in the union—New York.

Reports trickling in to Democratic headquarters from the farm belt, from the South, and from the Northwest all look good for the Democrats. But from New York, with its huge block of electoral votes, the reports are bad; also from New Jersey and Connecticut.

Chief trouble is Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany and mastermind of Governor Harriman's abortive attempt at the nomination in Chicago. He isn't working. The organization men around Carmine also aren't working. New York is as dead as a dodo as far as Democratic political activity is concerned.

Chief reason: They don't want to lose their man—Bob Wagner —as mayor of New York. If Wagner goes to Washington as senator, he can't do them any favors. If he stays in Manhattan as major he can do plenty.

Democratic politicians also have no great love for Abe Stark, the Brooklyn clothing-store man and president of the City Council, who would automatically replace Wagner.

Meanwhile, ex-Congressman Jack Javits, despite lukewarm Republican support at first, is expected to win a heavy Jewish vote in a city where the population is preponderantly Jewish. It was Javits who administered the surprise defeat to Franklin Roosevelt Jr. for New York attorney general two years ago.

Nixon's Limousine

A Washington taxi driver pulled up alongside Vice President Nixon's limousine at an intersection the other day.

Recognizing Nixon in the back seat, the cabbie yelled: "Hi, Mr. Vice President."

Nixon rolled down the window, leaned out and replied cheerfully: "How do you do?"

Dulles Fools Arabs

Inside facts about those 24 F-86 jets which Canada is selling Israel is that Secretary Dulles literally hounded Canada's Foreign Minister Mike Pearson into selling them.

From the moment Dulles heard that Canada had some spare Sabre jets, he made Pearson's life miserable. Finally Canada came across with the planes for Israel.

This is part of the Dulles policy of trying to curry favor with the Arabs yet at the same time please the Israelis.

He has consistently told Colonel Nasser and other Arab leaders that the United States would not sell arms to Israel. But last spring he arranged with Gen. Alfred Gruenther of NATO to get the French to sell 24 Mystere jets to Israel. An American OK had to be given for such a sale, since the jets were part of the NATO forces built up with American aid. The United States did more than give its OK, however; it actually arranged for the sale.

The Arabs were not fooled. They protested the sale, but they did not protest to Paris. They laid their protest right at the door of John Foster Dulles.

Only trouble with the sale of these planes is that Israel, facing a backbreaking job of financing its country, hasn't the money to pay for weapons. It needs them, but can't afford them. It faces the fact that Russia has bartered 200 MIGs to the Egyptians—jets which could make a bombing raid on Tel Aviv from Cairo in about 30 minutes. So it must have jet planes to defend itself.

All this results from Russia's policy of dumping arms in the Near East—a policy which has made Near Eastern countries spend most of their budgets on arms when, according to the alleged Marxian theory, they should be spending money to improve the lot of the common man.

Truth Team

Democratic strategists might well take a look at the record of one member of the Eisenhower truth team—the group sent to follow up Stevenson-Kefauver and supposedly tell the American public the real truth.

Most vigorous, vitrolic member of the truth team is Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

It would be interesting to ask Senator Goldwater to undergo a lie-detector test regarding his friendship with the late Willie Bioff, famed labor racketeer who went to jail for shaking down the motion picture industry.

After he got out of jail, Bioff lived in Phoenix under the assumed name of William Nelson, and ran a poker game at a Phoenix club. Goldwater was once president of the club. He became so chummy with the convicted labor racketeer that he flew to Las Vegas with him on one occasion and registered at the same hotel.

The same senator is now traveling around the country checking on the truth of Adlai Stevenson.

Washington Pipeline

The White House ordered the Army to get out of the coffee business and give up its roasting plants this summer. The price promptly shot up from an average of 75 cents to 84 cents a pound. The taxpayers pay the difference to the big coffee companies. . . Theon Wright, boss of the Gasoline Pump Manufacturers Association, has warned that gas pumps aren't keeping up with the auto industry. Pumps now used in gas stations won't be able to pump the volatile, high-powered gasoline to be used by the auto engines of the future. . . .

Ike In Trouble

By Stewart Alsop

WHAT CHEER, Keokuk County, Iowa

Although President Eisenhower is liked in these parts as elsewhere, candidate Eisenhower is in deep, deep trouble in the typical mid-western farm community which surrounds this small town. Candidate Eisenhower's trouble is so deep that Adlai Stevenson, who is hardly liked at all, has an excellent chance of carrying Keokuk County which in the past has always voted almost to the last percentage point the same way as the whole state of Iowa.

These conclusions are based on an arduous survey of farm sentiment in Keokuk, by this reporter and Walter Ridder of the Ridder Newspapers. It was a strange experience. For we kept thinking that something must be wrong, that the heavy switching of previous Eisenhower voters to Stevenson which we found must reflect some isolated picket of Democratic sentiment. So we kept moving to some other part of the county. But almost everywhere the pattern was the same.

Talk Was Impressive

It was with genuine relief that we found at last two Stevenson-to-Eisenhower switchers, a chatty old man in bi-focals and a lean chicken farmer. If it had not been for the old man and the chicken farmer, the results would have been too lopsided to believe.

As it was, of the 40 farmers we interviewed, often at length, 57 per cent had voted for Eisenhower in 1952 (a few percentage points less than the actual Eisenhower vote) and fully three out of five were now intending to vote Democratic. In short, if our sampling meant anything — and it was much heavier than the normal sampling in a single county in a national poll — Stevenson may actually better Eisenhower's 1952 landslide among Keokuk County farmers. Statistically, these results may not seem impressive. Yet the way the farmers talked was decidedly imprssive, in a number of ways.

This reporter visited Keokuk County once before, in early August, and was surprised to find Estes Kefauver remarkly popular, and running well ahead of the President. But Adlai Stevenson was not popular at all, and it seemed at the time that the President would probably beat Stevenson rather easily here.

Kefauver is still more popular than Stevenson, by a wide margin. But the angry resistance to Stevenson seems to have mysteriously evaporated, and the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket appears to have inherited all Kefauver's previous strength and, more besides.

More Bitter Now

Many farmers were bitter in August, but, again for mysterious reasons, they are much more bitter now. Bedevilled by drought and low hog prices, the farmers feel let down by the Eisenhower administration. We found no one —bar perhaps a furious old lady on the front stoop of an unpainted shack—who disliked the President personally. But hate is not to strong a word to express the feeling of a good many for Agriculture Secretary Benson.

Indeed, the violence of feeling is hard to exaggerate. One burly young man with a police dog hinted at direct action. "By God," he said, "this can't go on much longer, and there are plenty of us younger men around here to see that it doesn't." His sentiments were echoed, in milder form, by many others.

The wellsprings of bitterness are wholly economic—the "Health issue" has made virtually no impact at all. Listening to the farmers talk, one sensed how politically incautious the President has been to surround himself with men from the big business world.

"Eisenhower's a good man," a farmer said, "but he's got all these big shots telling him what to do, and they don't care a hoot for us small people." Others said the same thing in almost exactly the same words—especially the younger men.

Blamed Discrimination

Indeed, the depth of what can only be called class feeling among many farmers—most of whom had two cars in the yard and a big deep freeze in the kitchen—was truly surprising and even alarming. Many quite genuinely believed that they were being discriminated against and exploited by a nameless but powerful class of "big shots."

Although Keokuk County has in the post always voted like the state, this year it has been especially hard hit by drought and hail. Keokuk is a corn-hog county, too, and the corn-hog farmers have been hurt more than most. We talked only to farmers, and the merchants in county towns are more dependably Republican than the farmers.

Yet when these disclaimers are made, the fact remains that candidate Eisenhower is in desperately serious trouble among such farmers as those we talked to here. There is, in short, no cheer in What Cheer for the President or his party.

HIS SKIN BOILS

S. M. writes: I eat a very few sweets but tend to develop boils on my face and back. What other causes besides the diet could be responsible?

REPLY

Boils and pimples are staphylococcal infections and the problem is more complex than the eating of sweets. Resistance must be increased by keeping the skin scrupulously clean and getting ample exercise, sleep and sunshine. The diet should be well balanced, avoiding sweets as well as greasy and highly spiced foods. You may benefit also by using soap that contains an antiseptic.

CATCHING POISON IVY

C. N. writes: Can one person catch poison ivy from another?

REPLY

It is possible but improbable. The rash is produced by the irritating effects of the resin of the plant. So long as this substance remains on the skin, conceivably it could be passed on to anyone who touches it.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Frostburg Police To Crack Down On Traffic Violators

FROSTBURG—Bowery Street, which became a one-way thoroughfare last week, has been divided into two traffic lanes from its intersection with Mechanic to Main Streets. The left lane is for traffic turning west on Main Street, and the right lane for eastbound cars.

Police Chief Lloyd Truly says that some further adjustments will be made in the timing of the traffic lights as soon as possible. The change will give pedestrians crossing the streets more time, and will speed up the flow of traffic on Main Street.

There have been several instances in the past month, Truly asserts, where traffic violators have ignored tickets placed on their cars by police. Unless these violators call at City Hall and pay their fines, warrants will be issued and, in addition to a much higher fine, court costs may be added.

Truly says that the problem of stray dogs and cats wandering about the streets has improved greatly since the appointment of a dog catcher. It was found that a number of people were keeping their dogs tied up all day, and then turning them loose after dark when the dog catcher went off duty.

To overcome this situation, the dog catcher now works alternate day and night shifts.

Industrial Unit Elects Officers

HYNDMAN — Dayton Harold, owner of the Hyndman Planing Mill, has been elected president of the Hyndman-Londonderry Industrial Association. He replaces Harvey Zeigler, local funeral director, who resigned after heading the organization for several years.

All other officers of the group were retained. They are Postmaster Harry Ritchey, secretary; Ross Harclerode, vice president and Harry Ahlburn, treasurer.

Herbert Carpenter, principal of the Hyndman - Londonderry Elementary School, is chairman of the finance committee.

The Hyndman-Londonderry Industrial Association has been hard at work for several months in an effort to induce one and perhaps two new industries to locate in the area. So far, the association has not announced specifically what industries are being sought.

Harold said, "It will take a lot of footwork before we can achieve our goals, but we're hard at work."

One major preliminary hurdle was accomplished when Judge Richard C. Snyder granted a charter incorporating the association.

Peiping Broadcasts China's 'Who's Who'

HONG KONG, Sept. 27 (AP)—Red China announced today the membership of its Communist party's new 97-member Central Committee, a committee whose main aim is to whip the Chinese mainland into an industrial power. The chairman is Premier Mao Tse-tung.

Radio Peiping broadcast this first official list of "Who's Who" in Red China since the Peiping regime published a roll of the old 44-member committee in 1953.

Every man on the 1953 roll, except two known to have been purged last year, was named to the new committee, indicating the Red Chinese hierarchy has remained fairly intact.

Circle K Club is planning to sponsor the Homecoming Day parade which will leave the campus at 12:15 and move through the city. Every campus organization is urged to plan an entry in the parade, either a float, decorated automobile or marching group. Cash prizes will be given the winning entries.

Highlight of the day will be the football game at Stayman Field at 2 p.m. (EST) between the Catamounts and their arch rivals, Shepherd College.

Hospital Group Seeking Anesthetist Applicants

ROMNEY — The Hampshire Memorial Hospital Medical Advisory Committee, which is charged with the duty of finding and screening applicants for technical positions on the hospital staff, has announced that one of the most important members of that staff will be the anesthetist and that the committee is looking for applicants at this time.

Dr. J. D. Brown, chairman of the committee, pointed out that recently graduated registered nurses who desire to take the necessary training in anesthesiology have time to complete the training before the hospital opens if they start in the near future. Any graduate nurse can qualify as an anesthetist if she has the required additional training.

Any graduate nurse, or anyone who will complete their nurse's training in the near future and is interested in qualifying for this position on the hospital staff should contact Dr. Brown for information.

The training for qualification as anesthetist will have to be at the person's own expense, but the position commands a good salary.

minded; the humor has the ring of truth which is the best kind of humor; and his techniques are strictly his own. It's just possible that his audience — or at least this part of it — has got too hep to his tricks to laugh as heartily as it once did.

Mr. Como is one of my favorite singers, a technician of great restraint and subtlety and his hour still contains some mighty pleasant moments of popular song. He and his producers have enough sense to pick out really fine songs from the past and present without entirely losing sight of the momentary idiocies such as rock 'n' roll.

However, there is a tendency on the part of his writers to get him mixed up in horseplay that gets unbearably arch. On his first show there were introduced a Grace Kelly and a Mr. Rainier who were not the publicized ones. This bit was just embarrassing and, unless my ears were playing me tricks, I though I detected a similar reaction in the studio audience.

The second show had a running gag which put Tab Hunter on ice skates and made him fall down about 22 times. This was embarrassing, too, and also tedious. I'm getting mighty tired of movie stars appearing on television for no other purpose than to plug their latest picture — and then engaging in any sort of horseplay that is asked of them.

Mr. Como is an infinitely engaging fellow and, when he has the right words, as amusing as any singer around. That will sustain the crowd for another season or two, even when the monkeyshines get painful. But must they be?

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Too Many Foxes

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Chicken owner Harold H. The Council chairman said hunh-uh. But he'll call in the official pest officer, he promised.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27 (INS)—MGM is bringing "The Brothers Karamazov" to the screen and if Marilyn Monroe is serious about yearning to star in the Fedor Dostoyevski classic, it's all hers, providing her price is not too high.

Dore Schary has already started pre-production preparations on the famous Russian novel, with Pandro Berman named ts producer and Millard Kaufman, who wrote the "Raintree County" script, doing the scripting.

In Dostoyevski's dramatic novel, written in 1879-1880, he gives a psychological analysis of three Russians of his day—the brothers Karamazov—one a soldier, one an intellectual and the other a religious music, who become involved in a conflict with their father. Dore tells me he will have only top stars.

Bright and early, Bill Perlberg called to tell me that he's signed that wonderful little boy Michel Ray for "The Tin Star."

Said Bill, "I read your rave over 'The Brave One' and how fine this youngster is. So, I called RKO and asked them to show me the picture. I so thoroughly agree with you about Michel that George Seaton and I are giving the boy the role next in importance to Henry Fonda and Tony Perkins. Thanks for the tip."

You're welcome, Bill. And, you, too, Michel. I think this boy is the best child actor since Jackie Coogan and Jackie Cooper.

"Home never looked so good," Jack Lemmon told me when he returned from four and a half months in Europe.

"Does that mean a reconciliation between you and Cynthia?" I asked him.

He said, "We're working on it, but so far nothing has happened."

Cynthia and the baby met Jack at the airport and he said it looked to him as if his son had grown a foot. Jack was supposed to tour Europe after he finished "Fire Down Below" with Rita Hayworth and Robert Mitchum, but he was so eager to come home he only went to Paris.

Next on the agenda for Jack is probably Edwin O'Connor's best seller "The Last Hurrah," with James Cagney playing the Boston political boss and Jack his nephew.

Kathryn Grayson says she was so unhappy over "The Vagabond King" that she had made all plans to move to her ranch, retire, and forget show business.

"I'd read dozens and dozens of scripts, none of which I liked," she told me. "Now I have a TV show I'm crazy about, 'Lone Woman,' which will be presented as a spectacular in November before it becomes a series. Then I'm also interested in 'But Not for Marriage,' the Richard Nye-Louis Bellson show which opens in January."

Said Kathryn, "My trouble is that no one wants me to play a sophisticated role, and that's what I know I need right now."

Keyser Sheriff Begins Mailing 9,000 Tax Bills

Discount Allowed During October

KEYSER—It is tax collecting time for Sheriff Earl Kemp, and he and his office deputies with some extra help in the past two and a half weeks, have been working on the current tax bills. Yesterday the sheriff said he was "out from under," and his staff is now sending new bills out to taxpayers of Mineral County.

Sheriff Kemp said, starting yesterday and continuing through the next couple of days, there will be close to 9,000 tax bills in the mail. He warned that there might be some errors in a "bill or two," and he asked taxpayers to bring the bills to the office of the county assessor in the County Court House, ask for an explanation and have the errors, if any, corrected.

On these 1956 tax bills, a discount of two and a half percent will be allowable until October 31. In November there will be a flat rate payable and after November 30, a charge of nine percent will be added on each bill.

The sheriff announced also that delinquent taxes have been paid amounting to approximately $9,000, and he is expecting other payments to be made within the next few weeks.

Frostburg Plans Extensive Fire Prevention Program

FROSTBURG—Paul C. Haberlein, chief of the Frostburg Fire Department, has announced that Fire Prevention Week, October 7-13, will be observed here with an all-out campaign against fires and fire hazards.

A number of bright red, white, and blue window cards and posters have been obtained and will be distributed to the schools, stores, and theatres today.

Fire drills will be conducted in each of the city schools, including Eckhart Elementary School, during Fire Prevention Week, with one or more fireman present to observe the conduct of the students and their reaction to the drill. In each instance, one of the fire department's large fire fighting trucks will be taken to the school and the various pieces of equipment carried will be explained and demonstrated to the students.

Each school child within a five-mile radius of the city will be given a "Home Safety Inspection" form. He will be required to take this form home where he and his parents will complete it. This form has been made up to bring to the attention of both the child and the parents any hazardous practices or conditions that may exist around their homes.

In order that housewives may be able to do a little "slicking up" before the questionnaire comes home from school, Haberlein says the following points will be covered:

1. Evidence of careful smoking habits—plenty of large, sturdy ashtrays — for example — and a "no-smoking-in-bed" rule in your home.

2. Matches and cigarette lighters kept where children can't reach them.

3. Proper size fuses (15 amperes for most home circuits). Enough electrical circuits to avoid any overloading. Plenty of outlets. Cords in good condition; never twisted around nails or strung under rugs.

4. Attics, cellars and closets free of rubbish.

5. Clean stoves. Curtains, towels, and other hanging materials a safe distance from stove burners.

6. Oil stoves or heaters clean and in good condition. No evidence of oil spillage. Oil stored in safety cans—outdoors, if possible. (This storage rule also applies to gasoline used to run power mowers or any other motor driven appliance.)

7. Your assurance that you never use gasoline or other highly flammable liquid for home dry cleaning.

8. Furnaces clean and in good repair; ashes disposed of in metal containers. Paints and other combustibles stored a good distance away. Paint lids tightly closed.

9. Sufficient clearance between a coal or wood stove and the walls surrounding it; an insulated metal base on flooring beneath the stove.

10. Stove pipes, pipe collars, and flues free of defects.

11. Oily rags stored in covered metal containers, if for some reason they cannot be thrown out immediately after being used.

12. Every fireplace equipped with a sturdy fire screen, chimneys free of cracks or heavy soot.

13. Your assurance that you never leave young children alone.

Supper, Louisiana-Style

Creole cooking, from down New Orleans way, features the best of the American South, with the spiciness of France and Spain. In former days, servants toiled all day simmering sauces and blending herbs to make the exotic and tasty creole dishes. Today you can cook supper Louisiana-style with no more trouble than any simple meal; and you'll be serving a real gourmet dinner with foods from convenient cans.

The sweet potato, known in America as long ago as the days of Columbus, has become a nationwide favorite in combination with many foods and is almost a must for ham. Our recipe from the test kitchens of American Can Company uses fruit and spice to play up both. No vegetable could be more appropriate than okra for a true southern dinner. We suggest a popular combination of okra with tomatoes.

Then for a delightful finale to this Louisiana supper, Pineapple-Pecan Pie is delicious to eat and quick to make when you start with both fruit and nuts from cans. A not-too-rich variation of an old favorite, this pie is sure to satisfy the family sweet tooth. To top off the meal, coffee of course—fresh, fragrant and steaming and lots of it.

Ham 'N' Sweets

- 1 can (1 lb. to 1 lb. 5 oz.) whole sweet potatoes
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup orange juice
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
- 3 thin slices orange or lemon
- 2 slices (each ½ inch thick) cooked ham

Combine sirup drained from sweet potatoes, butter or margarine, orange juice, spices and fruit in saucepan; simmer 5 minutes. Add sweet potatoes; simmer 10 minutes, turning potatoes often. Serve with hot baked or broiled ham slices.

Makes 4 servings.

Tomato-Okra Medley

- 1 can (15½ oz.) okra and tomatoes
- 1 can (8 oz.) whole white onions, drained
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon marjoram or oregano
- Few drops hot pepper sauce
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine all ingredients in saucepan; simmer 10 minutes to blend flavors. Serve hot with toasted croutons, if desired.

Southern Pineapple-Pecan Pie

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 cup chopped canned pecans
- 1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) pineapple tidbits, well drained
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

Cream thoroughly butter or margarine, sugar, flour, vanilla and salt; blend in eggs and corn syrup. Fold in pecans and pineapple; pour into pastry shell. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour, or until firm.

Sept. Calls For Party Breakfasts

It's a wonderful time to have company . . . the autumn day is still cool and preparation for this type of meal is quite easy.

Begin the morning with honeydew melon wedges garnished with red and black raspberries or blueberries. Follow the fruit course with a large platter of golden brown pork sausage links and some orange-nut muffins. These muffins are especially good if served with honey butter or orange marmalade. Coffee or milk complete this party brunch . . . and look how easy it'll be to prepare.

Place the sausage links in a heavy frying-pan with 2 to 3 tablespoons of water. Cover closely Then uncover and brown lightly on all sides.

Frankfurter-Cheese Roll

- 6 unsliced frankfurter buns
- ¾ cup finely cut frankfurters
- ¾ cup finely cubed process American cheese
- 3 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- ⅓ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Hollow out frankfurter buns, from end to end, with an apple corer. Combine frankfurters, cheese, pickle relish, mustard and mayonnaise. Fill center of each roll with ⅓ cup of frankfurter-cheese mixture. Wrap rolls in aluminum foil and heat in a moderate oven (350° F.) for fifteen minutes.

Beef And Rice Go Toreador

You'll find this beef dish as satisfying as flowers were to that gentle bull, Ferdinand. Brown ½ pound beef cubes in 1 tablespoon shortening. Add 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup, 1 soup can water, 1 cup chopped onion, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, ½ teaspoon salt. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Stir in ½ cup rice; cover and cook about 30 minutes longer or until meat and rice are tender; stir occasionally. Makes 4 servings. Broccoli with lemon or cheese sauce is tasty with this dish.

Easy Is Steak Alpine

Got friends you really should invite for dinner, but feel hardly up to it? Do it anyway! Here's how to do yourself proud with a round steak dinner that looks like hard work but really isn't. Mix ¼ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper; pound this into 1½ pounds round steak with meat hammer or edge of saucer. Brown steak on both sides in ¼ cup shortening. Add 1 can (1½ cups) V-8 juice; cover and cook over low heat about 1½ hours ,or until tender. Stir occasionally. Makes 6 servings. With this main course whipped potatoes are mighty delicious. Also green beans cooked with a little finely chopped onion.

Quick Spanish Hash

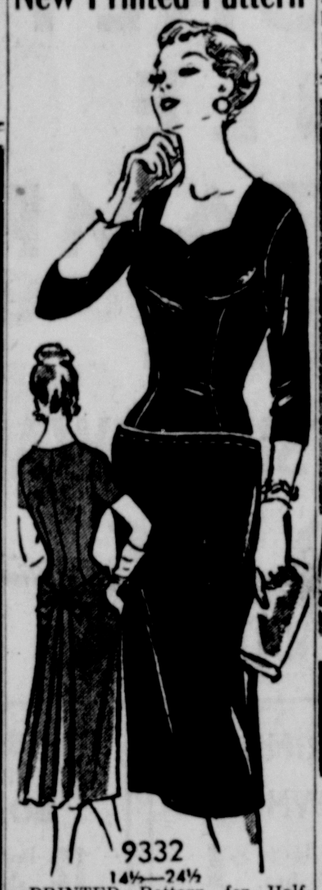

Quickly prepared meals can be particularly good when seasoning tricks are used to enhance flavors. Try adding two tablespoons of dry Spanish sherry—a vigorous fino or amontillado, for instance—to two cups of corned beef hash before heating in a saucepan or casserole. The Spanish sherries bring out the flavors of all spicy and creamy dishes. Serve the hash with scrambled eggs and broiled tomato slices sprinkled with oregano.

Barbecued Chicken Andaluz

Broiled chicken is juicier and more full of taste when it has been marinated for two hours before broiling in equal parts of olive oil and a dry Spanish sherry, either a fino or amontillado, to which has been added a teaspoonful of tarragon plus salt and pepper. Baste the chicken pieces with the mixture while broiling, which takes about fifteen minutes. You can add chopped green onions, parsley or paprika to the basic marinade, if you want to vary the flavor.

Ever think of using ice cream as a sauce? It is a simple but elegant treatment for fresh or frozen berries and peaches. Just whip a cup of heavy cream until stiff and fold it into a pint of softened vanilla ice cream. Add a drop of peppermint extract.

Hearty Meat Salads

Meat is the main ingredient in each of these salads. Ham flavors the ring mold; bologna highlights the individual salad cups; roast pork, cold cuts, and crisp cooked bacon top greens in the salad bowl; and canned luncheon meat is used in the stuffed tomatoes. Serve any of these salads as a luncheon or supper entree.

Zesty Ham Mold

2 packages lemon flavored gelatin; 3 cups bouillon or meat stock; 1 tablespoon horse-radish; 2 teaspoons prepared mustard; 1 medium onion slice, chopped; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 3 cups ground cooked ham; ½ small green pepper, chopped; 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento.

Dissolve gelatin in 1 cup bouillon; add remaining bouillon, horse radish, mustard, onion, and pepper. Chill until mixture begins to thicken, then stir in ham, green pepper, and pimiento. Spoon into lightly oiled 5-cup mold (loaf pan, ring mold, or decorative mold). Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens to serve. 6 servings.

Luncheon Meat Salad in Tomato Cups

1 can luncheon meat; 1 cup finely diced celery; ¼ cup French dressing; 2 teaspoons cooked eggs, finely chopped; mayonnaise; salt, pepper; 4 large tomatoes.

Cut meat into ½ inch cubes. Add celery and combine with French dressing; refrigerate ½ hour, stirring occasionally. Add relish, eggs, and enough mayonnaise to moisten slightly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cut tomatoes into 5 or 6 sections almost to stem end. Spread apart slightly; season with salt and pepper; then pile salad mixture into center of each tomato. Serve at once. 4 servings.

Salad Sophisticate

1 clove garlic, halved; ½ cup salad oil; 1 cup bread cubes (1 slice bread, cubed); 1 medium head crisp iceberg or Boston lettuce; 2 cups thoroughly chilled cooked meat, slivered (cold cuts, roast pork, ham, canned meats); 4 slices cooked bacon, crumbled; 2 tablespoons vinegar; 1-½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce; salt, pepper.

Brown garlic in oil, remove and discard. Pour off half of oil and reserve. Lightly brown bread cubes in remaining oil, then drain on absorbent paper. Break lettuce into bite-size pieces into salad bowl. Arrange slivered meats, bacon, and bread cubes on top. Just before serving, toss with reserved salad oil, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, and salt and pepper to taste. 6 servings.

Bologna and Cheese Salad

½ pound bologna (about 8 slices); 1 small head crisp iceberg or Boston lettuce; 1 cup mayonnaise; 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar; 2 tablespoons chili sauce; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper; 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento; 4 ounces blue cheese.

Cut bologna into thin strips and shred lettuce. Combine mayonnaise, vinegar, chili sauce, green pepper, pimiento, and blue cheese, mixing well. Toss with bologna and lettuce. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

Cranberry-Cheese Toastwich

12 slices enriched bread
¼ cup soft butter or margarine
12 slices process American cheese
¾ cup canned (whole berry) cranberry sauce
2 eggs, beaten slightly
⅓ cup milk
¼ cup shortening

Butter bread. On each of 6 bread slices, lay a slice of cheese and top it with 2 tablespoons of cranberry sauce. Place a second slice of cheese over the sauce and finish sandwich with a slice of bread. Combine beaten eggs and milk and dip each sandwich into it on both sides. Brown sandwich, on both sides, in small amount of hot shortening in a skillet. Serve immediately.

Favorite Stew With A Spanish Touch

The next time you are preparing your favorite stew, making a pot roast, or boiling a chicken, add a quarter cup of dry Spanish sherry to the pot a half hour before you take it off the stove. The sherry seems to bring all the flavors together, marrying them and enhancing them at the same time. The dry fino type is often preferred for beef and veal, while the nutty amontillado sherries have a special affinity to fowl and pork.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Don't laugh — she used her putter on the tee and got off a 150-yard drive."

There still are several sizzling days ahead when a long, cooling beverage will hit that dry spot. To make one in a jiffy, fill iced tea glasses with a cold grape drink, add a squirt or two of carbonated sherbet on top.

High-Topped Souffle

You don't have to be a French chef or a culinary artist to turn out a high and handsome cheese souffle! If souffle making has you baffled, try this never-fail recipe for Chicken N' Cheese Souffle. You'll be rewarded with a golden beauty that's light, fluffy and moist ... a joy to behold, and to eat.

The preparation is half done before you start so you can't go wrong. A can of creamy, rich-flavored, frozen chicken a la king serves as the basic sauce for the souffle, eliminating the need for making a white sauce. Cheese and eggs are added, and presto, your souffle is ready to pop in the oven!

Half done before you start, this Chicken 'n' Cheese Souffle just can't let you down. Start with a can of frozen chicken a la king, add cheese and eggs, bake. It's that simple!

The family will highly approve if you serve this magnificent dish with sauteed tomatoes and mushrooms, asparagus vinaigrette, good and crusty French bread, fruit and coffee. Here's how the recipe goes:

Chicken 'N' Cheese Souffle

1 can (10-ounce size) frozen chicken a l king; 1 cup shredded mild process cheese; 6 eggs, separated.

Heat a la king, as directed on can; add cheese and heat until melted; cool. Beat egg yolks slightly; add gradually to a la king mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold in a la king mixture. Pour into an ungreased 2-quart casserole. Bake in a slow oven (300°F.) for 1 to 1¼ hours or until souffle is golden brown. Serve immediately. 6 servings.

P.S. Like your souffle to wear a "top hat"? Before baking, make a line with a teaspoon about 1 inch deep and 1 inch in from the edge of the casserole. This crease causes a "top hat" to form on the souffle when it's baked.

Asparagus-Egg Sandwich

6 slices enriched bread
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
24 cooked green asparagus spears
Salt and pepper to taste
¾ cup tomato sauce
2 tablespoons slivered almonds

Toast bread and spread with butter. Arrange egg slices on buttered toast. Top with asparagus spears. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour tomato sauce over asparagus spears. Scatter almonds on top. Place on a cookie sheet and broil until nuts are browned and sauce is hot, about 2 minutes. Serve immediately.

Yield: 6 asparagus-egg sandwiches.

Sandwich Varieties

Now is the time for oven-weary homemakers to relax on cooking chores with easy conscience. It also provides opportunity for the display of inventive genius. Sandwiches can be served open or closed, the fillings plain or elaborate, hot or cold. Using different kinds of bread will add further interest—even in the same sandwich.

Fillings of the good sturdy kind are made with meat, fish, cheese, or peanut butter. Just remember to use the fillings generously, and spread clear to the edge of the bread.

Turkey Giblet Sandwich

If you've been taking advantage of the present abundance of turkeys, you'll want to try this delicious sandwich spread made from the giblets. The recipe from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, makes enough spread for 6 sandwiches.

Use 1 cup finely chopped cooked giblets; 1 tablespoon each finely chopped pimento, onion, green pepper; ¼ cup finely chopped celery; ⅛ cup finely chopped sweet pickles; ⅓ cup mayonnaise or thick salad dressing; salt and pepper.

You can easily make party graham crackers for toddlers more enticing and tasty by placing an easy melting confection on each cracker. Use one of the popular candy bars you'll find in almost any store. There's one—the mint appetizer — that's truly unusual. Broil under moderate heat 1 to 2 minutes, or just until melted. These are real frosted cookies the very young can chew yet are gala enough for any festivity

Hagerstown, Allegany Meet In 33rd Grid Game Tonight

Campers Test Henry's Hubs In Game Here

Martinsburg Opens CVAL Season With Fort Hill Tonight

Ridgeley Invades Keyser, Moorefield Plays At Romney

Two of the oldest gridiron rivals in the tri-state area will come to grips for the thirty-third consecutive year when Coach Mel Henry's Hagerstown High eleven engages the Campers of Allegany High School tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

The Hagerstown-Allegany series had its inception in 1924 and in the 32 games played to date, the Campers have won 17 while losing 12 and three games ended in ties. Hagerstown hadn't whipped Allegany since 1952. The locals won last year, 14-7 and in 1953 by the score of 20-6. The 1954 game was a 13-13 tie. The Hubs won in 1952 by the score of 7-0. The oldest uninterrupted series on Allegany's record is that with Keyser High School.

Coach Chester Payne's AHS eleven is playing .500 ball to date, winning over Beall, 20-6, and losing to Handley at Winchester, Va., in its C.V.A.L. opener, 14-7. Hagerstown will be making its first start of the season in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League after having lost to William Penn of York, Pa., 19-7 and beaten Westminster, 20-6.

Sentinels Play Bulldogs

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels will put an 11-game winning streak on the line tonight when it does battle with John Cobourn's Martinsburg High School Bulldogs under the lights in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Coach Hahn's eleven trimmed LaSalle, 33-7, and took the measure of Frederick High's Cadets, 21-7, in its C.V.A.L. debut last weekend. Martinsburg, with Cobourn at the helm for the 24th year, opened with a 31-13 win over Waynesboro, Pa., but lost to Morgantown High last week, 18-6. Morgantown was the team that handed Fort Hill its lone setback of 1955. After that loss, the Sentinels reeled off nine wins in a row and added two more wins this season.

The Sentinels and Bulldogs will be tangling for the 20th time. Fort Hill has won 13, lost 3 and three games ended in ties.

Beall Hosts Southern

Beall High School, whipped by Allegany, 20-6, and Keyser, 20-0, will play host to Southern High School of Oakland tonight at 8 o'clock in the Mountain City.

Southern has been trimmed by Petersburg, 34-0, Moorefield 26-7 and West Virginia School for the Deaf, 40-6. The Beall-Southern series was launched last year when the Mountaineers romped off with a 27-6 win.

Unbeaten Teams Meet

With the scalps of Charles Town, Parsons and Beall dangling from its belt, Keyser High School makes its Potomac Valley Conference debut by battling Ridgeley High's Blackhawks today in Keyser.

Coach Tom O'Connor's Hawks opened with a 30-13 decision over the Alumni then took the measure of Circleville, 27-0 and Berkeley Springs 7-0 in P.V.C. contests.

Keyser is the defending champion in the Potomac Valley Conference and will be meeting Ridgeley for the twenty-second time on the gridiron. Coach "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado has won five in a row from its Mineral County rival and the all-time score stands at 14 wins to six in Keyser's favor. One game ended in a tie.

Romney Tests Jackets

Coach Wes Abrams' Romney High Pioneers will play host to the Moorefield Yellowjackets in another important P.V.C. contest today. It will be the 27th meeting of these schools with Moorefield holding a 13-10 edge in wins in addition to three tie games.

Moorefield is 2-0 in the conference with wins over Southern, 26-7, and Petersburg, 25-13. Romney won its only P.V.C. start, beating Franklin, 27-12.

In the third conference game of the day, Franklin High's Panthers (0-1) tackle Coach Donald Bullock's West Virginia School for the Deaf Lions (1-1) at Romney.

Northern High's Huskies are slated to play Confluence (Pa.) High School this afternoon in Garrett County.

Tampa Man Acquires Louisville Colonels

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 27 (AP)—Phil O'Hara, Tampa public relations man and a former baseball club owner, said today he has acquired controling interest in Louisville of the American Assn.

O'Hara said he will leave for Louisville tonight to meet with a court-appointed receiver for the Class AAA club and will try to arrange a settlement with creditors. The organization was thrown into receivership yesterday, with debts reported at about $50,000.

O'Hara said he has been authorized by majority stockholders to plan the 1957 operation of the club in Louisville.

Georgia Tech, Pitt, Oklahoma Picked To Win

Spartans Favored To Beat Stanford

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—How do you explain so many early season football upsets? It's easy. Everybody's watching the National League pennant race—even the padded collegians.

We should have had an eye on S.M.U.'s Charley Arnold instead of the Dodgers' Don Newcombe last week when we picked 27 winners and 10 losers for a .730 mark.

Still distractedly, we try again:

George Tech 20, S.M.U. 13: Tech has been hit by food poisoning, but S.M.U.'s affliction is greater—the letdown from the Notre Dame game.

Michigan 24, UCLA 13: The Wolverines have more than Ron Kramer while UCLA is still reeling from the Pacific Coast recruiting scandals.

Navy 28, William & Mary 7: The Middies will miss Ron Beagle and George Welsh but not in this game. W&M lacks backfield to go with strong line.

Michigan State 20, Stanford 14: Stanford has a potential powerhouse but this is virtually the same Michigan State team which won in the Rose Bowl.

Miami (Fla.) 20, South Carolina 13.

Senators Host Potomac State Saturday Night

Coach Lough Makes Changes In Lineup

KEYSER, Sept. 27 — The Potomac State Catamounts completed a hard week's work today, with light defensive drills, in preparation for their game Saturday night under the lights against Davis Elkins College in Elkins. Coach "Horse" Lough is very much afraid of the multiple offense used by Coach Knapp. This offense has the straight power plays, spinners, reverses, and buck laterals of the single wing formation, as well as the T formation plays when a flanker is used. This formation is also considered to be a very good forward passing formation and Davis Elkins, against Fairmont last week, showed signs of developing into a fine passing team.

Coach Lough moved John Garrett from his guard position this week to the tackle spot of the injured Kenneth Parker in an attempt to have more experienced players in the starting lineup. Voras Haynes or Tom Cromer will probably start at Garrett's guard. Jim Dobbins and Bill Walters, freshmen, tackles, are doing very well but need more seasoning before starting.

Various backfield combinations have been used this week in an attempt to have a better balanced reserve strength. Last week Mike Scott a quarterback and Ed Helminski, fullback, were started at the halfback spots. Delligatti and Furr have been running at right halfback and Ogborne and Chicarell at left halfback this week and should see a lot of action Saturday night. Harvey Casey, a halfback, has been working at end in an attempt to strengthen that position.

Coach Lough remarked today, "Our boys have been working very hard and show promise, but we have had some good breaks and I realize that from here on all of our opponents will be pointing for us."

Hoosiers Win, 3-2

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 27 (INS)—Indianapolis choked off a Rochester rally in the ninth inning tonight to defeat the Red Wings, 3 to 2, and give the American Association club a 1-0 lead in the little world series.

A crowd of 8,711 saw the Red Wings cluster four of their five hits in the final frame, only to have the potential tying run erased at the plate.

Mrs. Glick Is Finalist, Tops Mrs. Bibby, 5 And 4

Mrs. Barry Scores Over Mrs. Richards In State Golf, 4-2

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Maurice Glick of Woodholme and Mrs. John Barry, District of Columbia champ, reached the finals of the Maryland Woman's Amateur Golf Tournament today despite the soaking administered by dying Hurricane Flossy.

Despite a steady drizzle that reached full rain-storm proportions at times, the entire field of women golfers remaining in the tournament completed their rounds.

Finals Set Today

Mrs. Glick defeated Mrs. William Bibby of Cumberland, 5 and 4, and Mrs. Barry ousted Mrs. C. M. Richards, Country Club of Maryland, 4 and 2 to gain the finals slated for 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Glick took an early five-hole lead and then matched Mrs. Bibby through the balance of the match. Mrs. Bibby won only one hole, the 10th, which she parred while Mrs. Glick missed a short putt for a bogie.

Mrs. Glick conceded the thrill of the match to Mrs. Bibby whose tee shot on the short 13th almost dropped in as it rolled over the cup and stopped a couple of feet away. Mrs. Bibby missed the putt.

Mrs. Richards gave Mrs. Barry a stiff battle for the first six holes of their semi-final but then the Washington girl got her approach irons working and pulled away. She made the turn 2-up. She had five one-putt greens.

Other Results

Consolations:

Mrs. Frank Cush, Argyle, defeated Mrs. Tom Konopa, unattached, 4 and 3.

Mrs. David Kaufmann Jr., Suburban, defeated Helen Ruff, Rolling Road, 1 up in 19 holes.

Hartack Gains On Shoemaker, Scores Double

Latter Holds Edge In Wins, 289-286

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 27 (AP) — A crowd of 7,450, smallest of the meeting, braved the strong winds and continual rains which prevailed today at this seashore course, but it failed to dampen their spirits.

The battle between Willie Shoemaker and Willie Hartack for national riding honors continued unabated and at the end of seven races Hartack had picked up one win over his arch rival who still maintained his lead with 289 for the season. Hartack has won 286 races.

Each boy scored with his first mount of the afternoon. Hartack began in the first when he drove home Stenton Acres' Mr. Weeper at $14.60 to begin a $64.00 daily double completed by War Ace Boy in the second.

Shoemaker did not ride until the third race and his single visit to the winner's circle was astride L. G. Robinson's blue and white which posted a $12.80 win return.

Hartack won the fourth race with G. G. Rosenberger's Corfei while his foe was unplaced in the fifth on J. L. Friedman's Alter Ego. This was Shoemaker's final mount of the day.

The sixth race and co-feature was the New Jersey Assembly Purse in which Debbie's Cat was victorious with Hartack picking up the place award astride Carolyn K. Stable's Psychotic.

However, while Shoemaker lost ground in the riding race he moved ahead in the money-winning department. His victory in the third race added $1,865 to his early gleanings to bring him with $60 of his record total of $1,876,760 set in 1954. His mounts this season have reached $1,876,700.

Ray Robinson Signs For Bout With Fullmer

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—After four months of intermittent negotiations, middleweig[illegible] champion Ray Robinson finally signed today to defend his crown against Gene Fullmer, leading contender from West Jordan, Utah, at Madison Square Garden, Wednesday, Dec. 12.

The 15-rounder will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast by the ABC networks but New York and Philadelphia will be blacked out of the television.

Asked how soon the heavyweight title fight would be made between light-heavyweight Champion Archie Moore and Floyd Patterson, promoter Jim Norris said, "I hope shortly. We're agreed on most everything but the site. Moore wants Los Angeles and Patterson wants New York. I prefer Chicago."

There was good reason to believe the fight to decide the successor to retired Rocky Marciano will be held in Chicago, Nov. 30.

The protracted bargaining paid off for the sleek, 36-year-old Robinson. Sugar Ray will get 47½ per cent of the net gate and the fighters' 60 per cent share of the $100,000 radio-TV package.

Thus Robinson's purse will amount to about $140,000 if Norris' prediction of a "sellout, $200,000" gate comes true. Fullmer will get about $20,000 on his 12½ per cent of the gate, which still would be his biggest purse. If Fullmer wins, he has to give Ray a return bout within 90 days with each getting 30 per cent.

Norris said he expected to charge from $5 to $30.

"I would have fought him for nothing to get the chance at the title," said the 25-year-old Fullmer. "Now I only hope that nothing happens to him between now and fight time because I'm confident I'm going to win the title."

"He's a good, strong boy and a good puncher," said Robinson of his opponent. "I'm going to be prepared to go 15 rounds if I have to but I'd be happier if I won without going the 15."

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles have signed an 18-year-old second baseman from La Pryor, Texas, to their minor league system, Farm Director James M. McLaughlin said today.

Charles Robinson, a 6-foot, 165-pound athlete who won 13 letters at La Pryor High School prior to graduation last June, was signed by Scout Lindsay Brown. His contract is with the Paris Club of the Class D Sooner State League. He will report to the Orioles' minor league camp at Thomasville, Ga., next spring.

Three To Oppose Nashua Saturday

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Three rivals were entered today against Nashua for the $75,000-added Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park, and the syndicate millionaire will be odds-on favorite to win the 22nd victory of his career.

The Woodward is a mile and one quarter, weight for age affair, which accounts for the reluctance to hook up with Mr. Millions.

Named in addition to Nashua were the Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus, the Maine Chance Farm's Jet Action, and the Clearwater Stable's Cavort. Nashua and Cavort are 4-year-olds, the others both 5, and all must carry 126 pounds.

Richardson To Play Despite Foot Injury

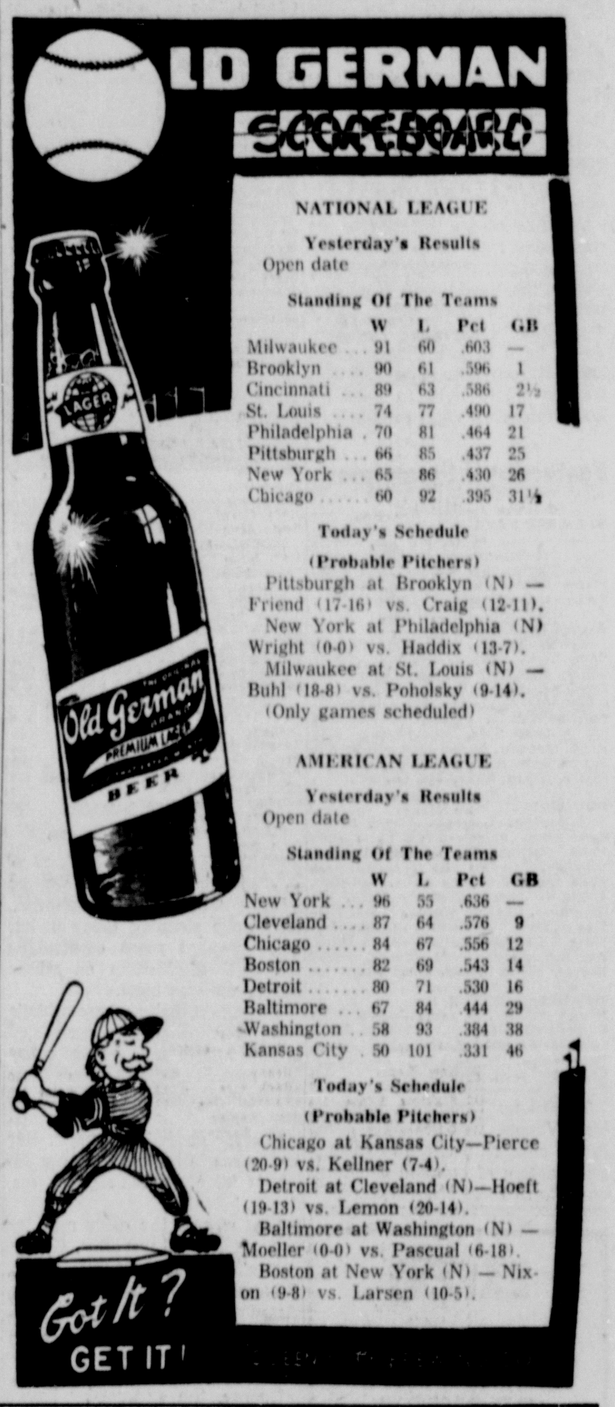

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Hamn Richardson, No. 1 player on the U.S. Davis Cup team, will compete against Italy, European zone champion, this weekend although handicapped by a pulled tendon in his right foot.

Richardson first noticed the ailment after a workout yesterday.

Buhl To Hurl For Braves In Series Opener At St. Louis

Night Games Billed Today And Saturday

Spahn Will Pitch Tomorrow; NL Race Could End In Tie

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Manager Fred Haney named Bob Buhl to open tomorrow night's vital three-game series with St. Louis after his Milwaukee Braves romped through a batting drill at Busch Stadium.

Haney said Warren Spahn, the Braves' 20-game winner, was the Saturday night probable with "the whole bunch of them" ready for the Sunday game.

Lew Burdette, Taylor Phillips, Ernie Johnson and Gene Conley will form the bullpen contingent for the Braves who need to win only two of the three games to clinch a tie for the National League pennant, even if Brooklyn wins all three of its games from Pittsburgh.

The Braves are resigned to the race going right down to the wire Sunday night, although there is a chance they could wrap it up Saturday before their night game with the Cardinals. Brooklyn would have to lose Friday night and Saturday afternoon and Milwaukee would have to beat St. Louis tomorrow night to clinch it.

Babe Zaharias, World's Greatest Woman Athlete, Dies In Her Sleep

Physique Eroded By Cancer; Weight Is Eighty Pounds

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP) — The world's greatest woman athlete, Babe Didrikson Zaharias, died while sleeping today in her quiet hospital room overlooking the Gulf of Mexico on whose shores she was born.

The superb body whose athletic feats in her 42 years amazed and thrilled sports fans wasted away to 80 pounds as cancer eroded her physique during a three-year illness.

That was in the early morning hours. Shortly thereafter, George said, "She's had enough agony, sadness and pain. And so I'm losing my wife, partner and love. God's will be done. I know she'll live forever in the hearts of millions."

George, the ex-wrestler known as "The Weeping Greek From Cripple Creek"—now a wealthy promoter and real estate operator—paced the corridor of John Sealy Hospital all night—the pattern of his life for weeks. He stepped into the Babe's room frequently.

He told of her death this way: "She died in her sleep. It was real nice and peaceful, as peaceful as a baby. She just floated away. It's been a long battle and the Babe fought it the way she knows how to fight, giving ground reluctantly all the way and an inch at a time."

Services Set Today

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p.m. CST tomorrow at the Bethlehem Lutheran church in Beaumont, the city she always called home. Officiating will be the Rev. C. A. Woytek, the church's pastor. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Beaumont.

Her last few months were relatively free of pain. Surgeons severed a nerve to relieve sensation. Cancer was widespread in her body.

Sports editors named her "Woman Athlete of the Year" six times in the annual Associated Press poll. On the 1950 ballot, the sports writers named her the woman athlete of the half-century.

At 1 a.m. today, all members of the family who were in Galveston filed into her room. She nodded to each of them, then she had a few words with George and then she went to sleep.

Ike Lauds Fight

Her illness was discovered in 1953. She underwent surgery at that time but came back to win seven golf tournaments—she won 90 in her lifetime.

Later she underwent surgery for a ruptured spinal disc — she'd pushed a car out of the sand and hurt her back. Additional cancer was discovered then, and she was in and out of the hospital for some months. The first cancer was of the rectum and the second was in the sacrum, the triangular bone at the base of the spine.

Only a few weeks ago she shook her fist and declared, "I'll beat this thing yet."

Parents Were Norwegians

Her parents were Norwegians and settled in Port Arthur, Tex., on the Gulf of Mexico coast, and the Babe was born there. The family soon moved to Beaumont, also on the coast, and the Babe always called that home.

She was an athletic tomboy as a child. She first blazed her way across sports pages and into the hearts of her fans when she came to Dallas to play on the Employers' Casualty Golden Cyclones, a girls' basketball team.

At the time she was a wiry 17, weighing 105, standing 5 feet 6, and she never did turn into a hard, muscular type. She loved to cook and dance and liked pretty dresses. One of her great loves was her home at Tampa, Fla.

In her first basketball game, she tossed 40 points through the basket. She led the team to the National AAU championship in 1931. When the Cyclones lost in the finals in 1932 to Oklahoma Presbyterian College, she dropped the game. She was named All-America forward both years.

A few months later, she won the National AAU women's track and field championships single-handed, taking five firsts and tying for another.

In the 1932 tryouts for the Olympic team, she won nine out of 10 firsts, but was allowed to compete in only three events in the Olympics.

Won At 1932 Olympics

She won two—the javelin throw and the 80-meter hurdles—with world's records. She was awarded second place in the high jump, and dropped to that low—for her—position because her best jump was ruled out because she dived over the bar.

By this time, it was obvious to coaches she could win just about anything she tried.

She gave Babe Stribling, a top middleweight boxer, a bad one round in a gymnasium workout, toured the country as a billiards player, hit three home runs in a women's amateur baseball game, scored 106 points in a basketball contest, often hit a golf ball more than 300 yards, once tossed a baseball 296 feet, pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game against the Brooklyn Dodgers, and was an impressive left-footed kicker while working out with the Southern Methodist University football team.

She became a golfer on impulse. She was shopping for a dress when the beauty of a golf bag and set of clubs attracted her. She bought them.

The first time out, the Babe shot a 95. In a month she was in the low 80s. She won her first tournament in 1934. After that she won all the major ones—17 of them in a row at one time.

Won British Title

The climax came when she won the British Women's Amateur at Gullane, Scotland, in 1947.

She won an estimated million dollars as a professional athlete.

After the 1932 Olympics, an automobile advertisement carried her picture and the AAU barred her from further amateur competition. She said she didn't give permission for use of the photograph.

After a time she purged herself of professionalism by staying out of tournament play for the required time. She was lured back to the pro ranks by a fabulous offer of $300,000 for some golf movies and a tie-in with a sporting goods firm.

After she was stricken, the Babe and George established the Babe Zaharias Cancer Fund. Its total was swelled by contributions from many persons and from percentages of golf tournaments and other sports events.

All who made public comments today on her life and death praised her courage in fighting the disease.

Brooks' Leader Figures Cards Will Cop Game

Dodgers Must Annex Three To Tie Braves

BROOKLYN, Sept. 27 (AP)—"All we can do now is win all our games and pray."

A week ago Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves said it. Today it was Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

That's the way the National League pennant race has been roaring down the stretch. First the Braves had it practically won—and let it slip out of their hands. Then the Dodgers looked like sure things but they too found the task too much.

Now all but the Dodgers themselves are convinced the Brooks are dead. The pricemakers have made the Braves 1-3 to capture the flag. If you have courage enough to back the Brooks to win, these same betting gentlemen will give 12 to 5 they don't.

Even the usually cautious Milwaukee manager, Fred Haney, has started talking World Series and victory celebrations. In Brooklyn, they talk only about a season-ending tie and a playoff.

"That's our big hope right now," said Dodger Manager Walter Alston. "I think Milwaukee will lose at least one of the three in St. Louis. If we can win all three against Pittsburgh, we'll start the season all over again right here on Monday."

Snead And Parker Will Be Installed Into Hall Of Fame

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 27 (AP)—Sam Snead and Clarence (Ace) Parker will be installed into the Virginia Athletic Hall of Fame here Saturday before the Duke-Virginia football game.

Membership plaques will be presented to Snead and Parker by John S. Battle Jr., former governor of Virginia.

Snead, a native of Hot Springs, Va., is one of the greatest golfers of all time. He has won every major professional golf championship except the National Open.

Parker, who hails from Portsmouth, Va., was a great grid star at Duke University and in the professional ranks. He now is Duke backfield coach.

Three deceased athletes also will be honored; Archie Hahn, Jimmy Leech and Hunter Carpenter.

Hahn, a former Olympic track ace, coached University of Virginia track teams for a quarter of a century. Leech and Carpenter were halfbacks at Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Tech, respectively.

Bullpen Is Doghouse

CINCINNATI (AP) — In Reuben Gomez's case the bullpen could be called the doghouse. Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants became irked when the Puerto Rican right hander failed in 12 straight starting assignments. He placed him in the bullpen for the last month of the National League season.

Morpheus Winner, Pays $101 For $2

ELMONT, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Long shot players had a field day in the 48th running of the $17,850 Brook Steeplechase Handicap at Belmont Park today when the two longest chances ran one, two. Chilling winds and intermittent showers kept the crowd down to 13,103.

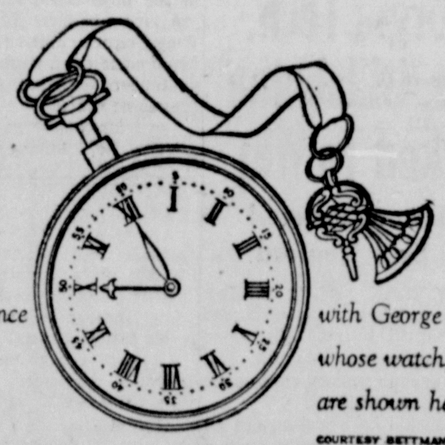

Alvin Untermyer's Morpheus, ridden by John Knowles, won by seven lengths from Morris H. Dixon's Pine Shot, who finished three lengths ahead of James F. McHugh's Sundowner. Then there was a spread of 12 lengths to Monpelier's Mighty Mo.

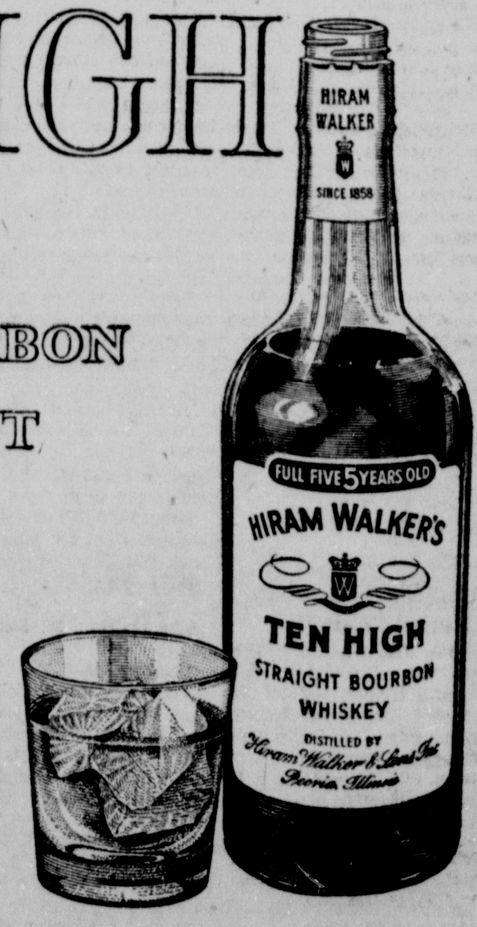

Morpheus, 4-year-old son of Lovely Night-Phair Ydler, returned mutuels of $101.10, $34.10 and $11.50. Pine Shot, who set all the early pace, paid $13.70 and $7.80 and Sundowner was $7.00 to show. It was the first stakes victory for Jockey Knowles, 21-year-old Wilmington, Del., rider.

The victory was worth $12,400 net to Mr. Untermyer, Greenwich, Conn., sportsman.

High Flying Deacons Will Battle Terps

Wake Forest Won First Game, 39-0

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Sept. 27 (AP)—Wake Forest Coach Paul Amen, and Maryland's Tommy Mont have vastly different problems as they prepare for their game here Saturday, the Atlantic Coast Conference opener for both schools.

Amen has to get his Deacons down from the clouds following their 39-0 runaway over William and Mary, an even to six-point choice before the game.

Mont has to recharge the Terps who were two-touchdown favorites over Syracuse but went down to a 26-12 drubbing.

Noting that five of the six Wake Forest touchdowns came on runs of from 17 to 78 yards, Amen commented, "You're just not going to get those easy touchdowns such as we got Saturday against a good team. When you score on long runs it generally means a team just isn't ready."

Amen, a 10-year staff man at West Point in his first season here, said he was pleased most by the Deacs' lone sustained scoring drive, a 90-yard push.

Commenting on Maryland's loss to Syracuse, he observed that from the psychological standpoint a Maryland victory over Syracuse would have been in Wake Forest's favor. He looks for the Terps to be in high gear here to atone for that opening day embarrassment.

Amen has been giving the passing game considerable attention this week as he doesn't expect the rugged Maryland defense to yield anything like the 356 yards rushing achieved against William and Mary. Last year the Terps yielded only seven yards rushing as they trimmed the Deacs 28-7.

The Deacons emerged in good condition and are ready for an effort similar to the one two years ago when as underdogs they forced Maryland to come from behind in the last period to gain a 13-13 tie.

Bucky Harris Resigns As Detroit's Manager

Tigers Will Name New Leader After The World Series

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT, Sept. 27 (AP)—Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris resigned today as manager of the Detroit Tigers, saying he cannot be the "fiery, aggressive" skipper the club's new owners say they want for 1957.

BUCKY HARRIS
Tigers

The resignation becomes effective at the end of the season. It brought to an end months of speculation since the Detroit club changed hands in mid-summer.

Fred Knorr, Michigan radio executive, heads the 11-man syndicate that takes official control Monday in the $5,500,000 deal.

Tiger President Spike Briggs had severely criticized Harris' handling of the Tigers during a 10-game losing streak earlier in the season. Briggs spoke about a "lack of hustle", but later apologized publicly and assured Harris his job was safe at least until the end of the current season.

Name Pilot After Series

The new owners say his successor will be named following the World Series. Speculation is that the 59-year-old Harris may accept a job as assistant general manager of the Boston Red Sox.

A week before Harris wrote his letter of resignation, Knorr, the new president, said the Tigers' 1957 manager will be a fiery, active guy who will inspire the players and get out there on the field and fight for them."

Harris quoted the story in his resignation to Briggs and said, "obviously that eliminates me. As you know, I prefer to try and get winning results by exercising my best judgment, percentage-wise."

In Game Since 1916

Harris will be winding up his 29th season as a major league manager. He has been in organized baseball since 1916. In 1924 he led the Washington Nationals to an American League championship as the 27-year-old "boy manager." Again in 1925 under Harris the Nats won the flag, but since then his only first-place finish—in or out of the majors—was with the 1947 Yankees.

In all his years in baseball, Harris maintained a mild-mannered approach to the game and to his players. He seldom emerged from the dugout and was noted for his strict adherence to the percentage in playing the game.

In accepting the resignation, Briggs said in a statement that "we have had our ups and downs, but I shall always have great respect for Bucky as a gentleman and for his ability as a manager."

Three times Bucky served as the Washington skipper. He also managed Philadelphia of the National League, Boston and New York in the American and held down two minor league managerial posts.

Bucky Reviews Season

Bucky reviewed the 1956 season shortly before his resignation. Said he:

"I'm quite certain I've never run into such bad luck in all the years I have been in baseball. We've had one injury after another, and we just haven't had the depth to fill in at the weakened positions."

Tom Gastall's Death Caused By Drowning

Body Was Uninjured When Plane Crashed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Tommy Gastall, Baltimore Oriole bonus catcher who lost his life when his plane crashed into Chesapeake Bay, died of drowning, a team official said today.

Paul Welsh, public relations director, said the State medical examiner had informed him the 23-year-old athlete's body showed no signs of injury from the crash.

Welsh said he was told this would indicate that Gastall successfully ditched the plane and escaped from it only to die in the water.

His body was found Tuesday in Patapsco River off Riviera Beach, just south of Baltimore. The plane has not been located.

The body has been taken to Gastall's home town, Fall River, Mass., for funeral services. The arrangements were still indefinite today.

Welsh said Gus Triandos, Oriole catcher and a close friend of Gastall, will represent the team at the funeral. Also present will be Frank McGowan, the Orioles' scout in the Boston area who signed Gastall to a bonus contract.

By C. V. BURNS

GENE ROMAN, the New Jersey boxing referee, here on an annual visit, was reminiscing the other evening and recalled the night he worked the heavyweight bout between "Ace" Clark, the giant Negro, and Jack Gross of Philadelphia, at the Atlantic City Auditorium.

GENE ROMAN

Roman says he sensed there was something wrong before the match got under way when Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, manager of Gross, remarked: "Don't make any mistakes," as Roman passed him on his way to the ring.

The affair turned out to be a "waltz" and after warning the boxers several times, Roman finally stopped the thing in the fifth round and ordered both men out of the ring for not trying.

Gene recalls that the boxing commission suspended him for "conduct unbecoming to a referee" but he was reinstated later. Senator Edwards, who was at the ringside, came to Roman's defense and declared the Roman-Clark scuffle was better than most fights he had seen.

In 1930, Roman was rated the third best boxing referee in the nation by Collyer's Eye, sports publication. George Blake, Los Angeles, and Eddie Purdy, Chicago, were placed above the New Jerseyite, who really launched his boxing and refereeing career in Cumberland. In his early days as a ring official, Roman worked under Matt Hinkle of Cleveland.

Gene refereed five championship fights within six months. He officiated in the Mickey Walker-Willie Oster, Izzy Schwarz-Willie LaMorte, Benny Bass-Charley Goldman, Jackie "Kid" Berg-Al Delmont and Frankie Genaro-Little Jeff matches.

WINNINGEST softball pitcher in the tri-state area this season was Junior Brelsford, ace of Jimmy Allen's Potomac Valley Old Germans, champions of the County League, and winners of the Western Maryland Tournament.

Brelsford won 27 games and lost three and hurled in two tie games—one 13 innings and the other eleven.

Six of Brelsford's triumphs were via shutouts and three came in the tournament when he skunked Celanese, 10-0, Corriganville 5-0 and Melody Manor 5-0. He yielded only three runs in 28 innings in the tourney.

SALEM COLLEGE in West Virginia is rejoicing this week following its first football triumph over Concord College since 1935.

It was Salem's first game under Coach Clem Clower, from Petersburg in Grant County, and was won in the closing minutes of play when Halfbaack Jim Hartbarger intercepted a flat pass and went 34 yards to make the final count, 19-13.

So jubilant were the Salem players that they carried Coach Clower off the field after the contest.

Clower expects to have a tougher game this week when West Liberty is met at New Martinsville. On October 6 Salem will battle Potomac State at Clarksburg.

Clem says he talked with Bob Kyle, former Keyser and Romney High School mentor while at Athens. Bob, he reports, inquired about "Tack" Clark, John Dice, the writer and other P.V.C. fellows of two decades ago. Kyle is with the physical education department and was timer for the Salem-Concord game.

THE NEW YORK Herald Tribune carries an article which states that New Dorp High School of Staten Island, coached by Salvatore "Sal" Somma, native of Ridgeley, W. Va., looms as one of the most powerful football teams in the metropolitan area this year.

New Dorp concluded the 1955 season with a six-game winning streak and may run it to 14 in a row before closing the current campaign on Thanksgiving Day.

A LETTER from John H. Neun, "trouble shooter" for the New York Yankees, reveals that Paul Krichell, one of the top scouts in major league baseball, is ill.

Krichell, who has served as a member of the Yankees' "board of strategy" more than 30 years, has uncovered many stars for the Gotham club. He frequently visited Cumberland when the Colts were a Yankee farm in 1931 and 1932 and Col. Nelson W. Russler headed the local organization.

Krichell usually scouted the National League pennant contenders in past years prior to the World Series. Neun also has handled similar duties to get the lowdown on the opposition before the fall classic.

IT IS NOW LEGAL for a hunter to bag two deer within a year—in New Jersey, that is.

Here's how:

Then the same person may take the second deer by shotgun between December 10 and 15. This deer must be a male with antlers at least three inches in length.

In previous years if you got a deer by bow and arrow, that was all.

Bow and arrow hunters may roam the woods during the shotgun season, but anyone who got a deer by arrow in his special season can't take the second deer the same way.

In Maryland, the law restricts a hunter to only one deer a year whether taken with bow and arrow or shotgun.

Joey Giardello To Fight Boyd

Chicago Fighter Is 8-5 Favorite

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 (AP)—Bobby Boyd is expected to enter the ring an 8-to-5 favorite over Joey Giardello in the 10-round battle of middleweight championship contenders tomorrow night at the Cleveland Arena.

Boyd, lanky Chicago battler who is rated No. 2 among the middleweights, will be shooting for his 10th straight victory.

Giardello, of Philadelphia, must win if he expects to earn a shot at Sugar Ray Robinson's crown. He was ranked above Boyd until Charlie Cotton outpointed him twice. Those were his only losses in his last 14 bouts.

Boyd started his victory string last year by defeating such fighters as Gene Fullmer, Tony Anthony, George Johnson and Italo Scortichini. He outpointed Eduardo Lausse and Holly Mims this year before stopping the tough Milo Savage at Chicago in a recent performance.

Tomorrow night's bout will be broadcast and telecast nationally (NBC radio and TV) starting at 10 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time.

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST SHOW

One fascination about the World's Series is the unexpected. It always seems to happen. Every year there are goats and heroes, bonehead plays and impossible catches.

Each year since 1903, with one exception, national attention has been focused on baseball's great fall classic. It is one of the few events in sports to make page one. Reading the sports pages, listening to broadcasts, watching television--or even attending the games--are people who hardly know the difference from a bunt and a bingle. They all want into the act of second guessing the umpires, managers and players.

That's what has packed as many as 390,000 people into the stadiums for a single series, and run receipts up as high as $2,979,000. In over half a century, some 11 million people have paid their way into ball parks to see the National and American League pennant winners clash each fall.

Everything happens in Brooklyn. Here's Yankee Tommy Henrich striking out to start a four-run rally in the 1941 Series. Dodger catcher Mickey Owen missed the third strike. The Yankees won the game and next day they won the Series.

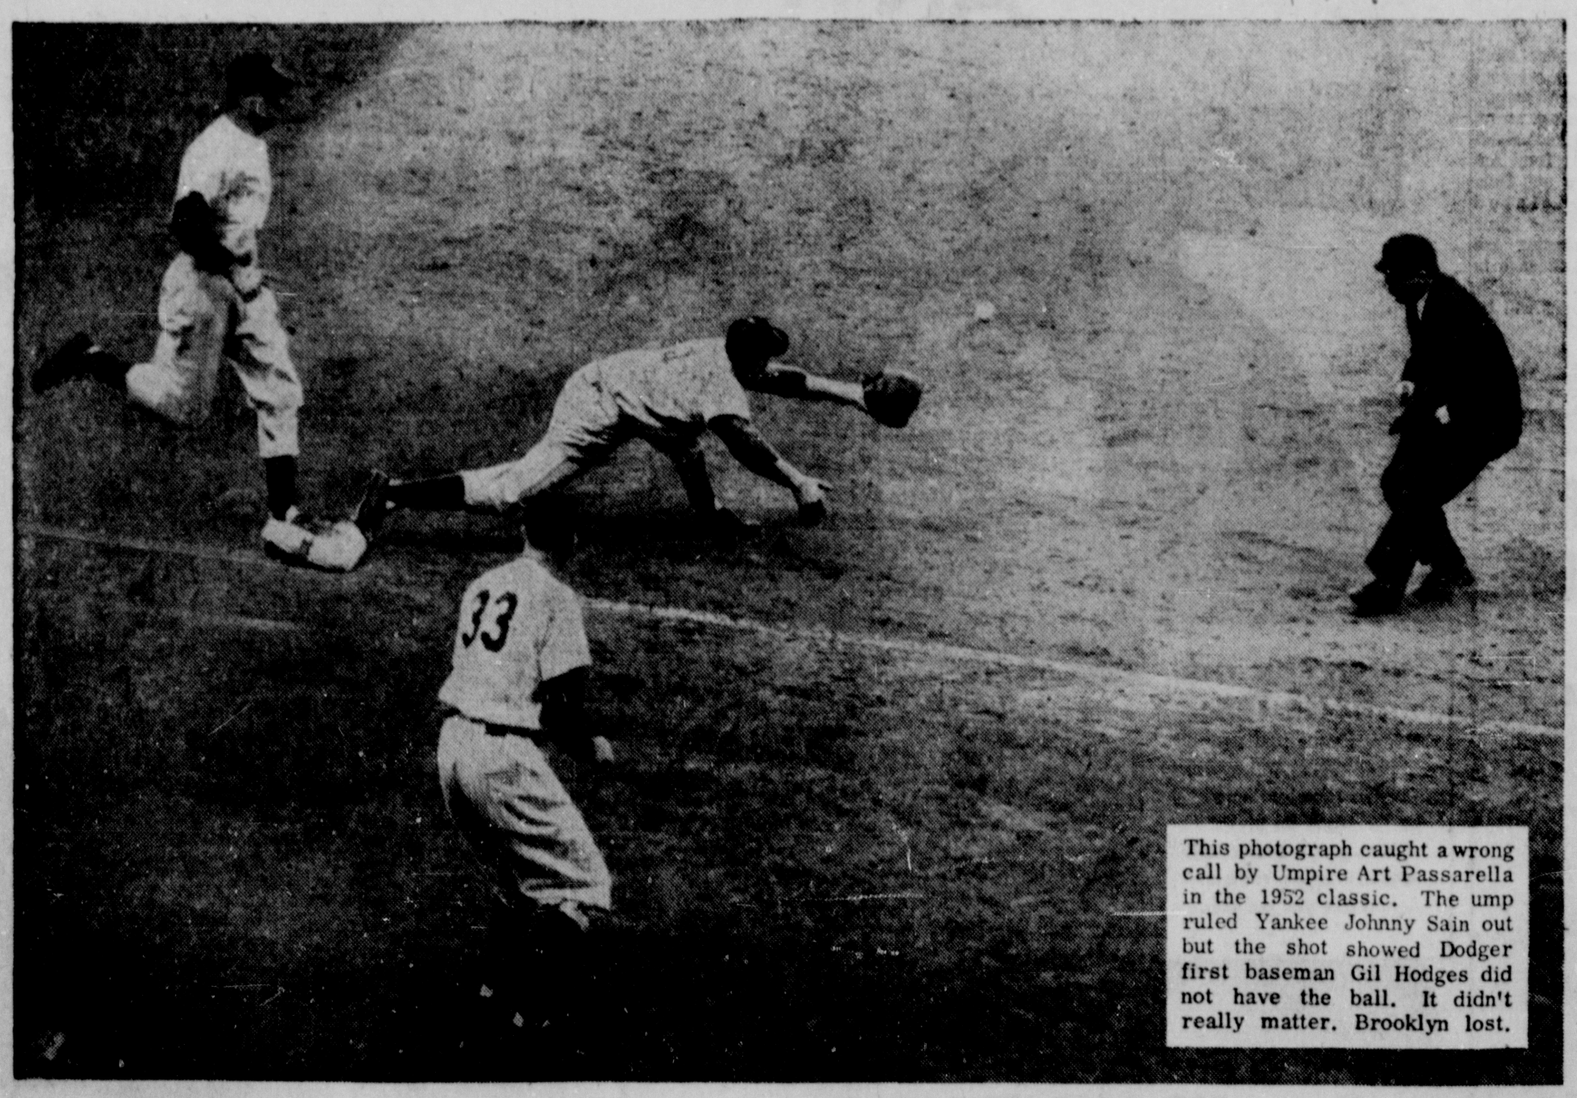

← Managers run the teams but umpires handle the Series. Here John McGraw, who managed the Giants nine times in Series, strikes one of his typical Napoleonic poses as he confronts an umpire in 1911. Even then the man in blue was right.

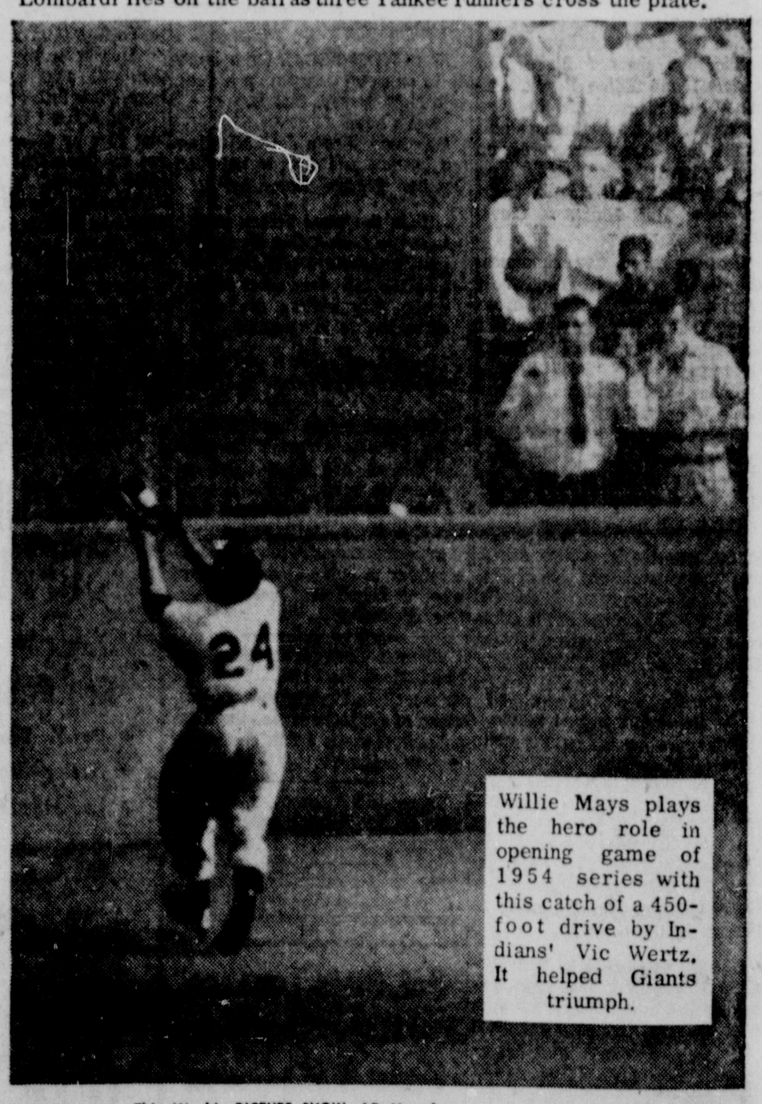

→ Of all the Series heroes none could match Babe Ruth's exploits. In ten Series he clubbed 15 homers, scored 37 runs. Twice he hit three homers in a single game. Here the Bambino is congratulated by Lou Gehrig in the 1932 classic.

This photograph caught a wrong call by Umpire Art Passarella in the 1952 classic. The ump ruled Yankee Johnny Sain out but the shot showed Dodger first baseman Gil Hodges did not have the ball. It didn't really matter. Brooklyn lost.

Willie Mays plays the hero role in opening game of 1954 series with this catch of a 450-foot drive by Indians' Vic Wertz. It helped Giants triumph.

Television And Radio

The Old Pros Return

The old pros are filtering back from their summer holidays, tanned, rested and presumably all stocked with goodies to keep us entertained until next spring. However, it's only fair to say they've all been a little disappointing. Perry Como is relaxed. Sid Caesar is, as usual, frantic. But there has been a slight diminution of the charm of the first and the humor of the second.

Or just possibly we're all on to them a little too much. Personality is a big thing on television but it doesn't wear indefinitely. Sid Caesar introduced his new wife, Janet Blair, in one of his commuter sketches in which she protests with a kind of ferocious feminine sweetness against being a golf widow. Like all of Caesar's material it was a sound idea of solid identifiable humor and it had its moments. But it didn't come off as well as some of the Caesar things normally do.

In his second time around, the commuters got into a hassle about loaning their car to a neighbor who borrows everything but Caesar's back teeth. It was a great idea; it just wasn't terribly funny. It is the misfortune of all Mr. Caesar's wives to be compared to their distinguished predecessors — Imogene Coca and Nanette Fabray. This is a little unfair since they're all completely different types. Janet Blair is a very pretty and very gifted girl who can sing and dance and whose comedy style is considerably less manic than the people who preceded her. She'll be all right.

In his first two shows, Mr. Caesar continued his parodies of movies and here, I think, his preoccupation is getting a little too special. In the first place I don't think movies enter into our lives quite so fully as they once did.

For another, I feel that Mr. Caesar's parodies are getting a little too long and elaborate. A parody on "The King And I," which had some very funny moments, also had some long stretches that seemed almost like a straight rehash of the movie rather than a caricature of it. And, having made all these carping complaints, I still think Caesar is one of the really first-rate talents around.

His aims are always high-

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of spades.

Even more difficult than the planning of the squeeze is the defense against its execution. It might be interesting to present this deal, all hands exposed, to your favorite partner with the query as to whether he would prefer to play or defend against the six diamond contract.

The deal was played in a team of four match, and the bidding was the same at both tables. The player representing Team A took the opening lead of the king of spades and drew two rounds of trumps, discarding the seven of hearts. He then led a low heart, and the queen was taken by East's ace. A spade was returned and ruffed by declarer. As trumps were drawn, dummy discarded a heart and a spade. The king of hearts was cashed; the closed hand was re-entered with the queen of clubs. Now, four cards from the end, dummy held three clubs and the jack of spades. West held three clubs and the queen of spades. When declarer led his last trump, it was impossible for West to make a safe discard.

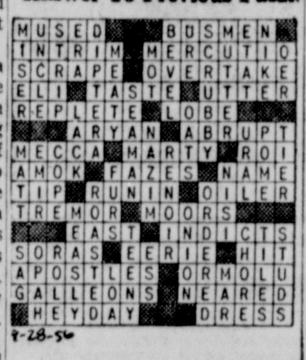

At the other table, the play proceeded in the same manner for the first three tricks, but when the heart was led and the queen played from dummy, East made a brilliant diagnosis. It was clear that declarer had six solid diamonds, and the only other side cards he could have were the king and queen of clubs. It was evident that 11 tricks were available to him, but that the 12th could be developed in a squeeze against West, who is known to have the king of spades and probably holds a club stopper.

East refused to win the trick. By refusing to permit declarer to concede his losing trick early in the play, East spiked the enemy's guns.

Note, now, if declarer leads all his trumps, West will be left with five cards instead of four; in other words, he will have a spare heart which can be discarded on South's last trump lead, enabling him to retain his club stopper and the queen of spades.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear son, who passed away Sept. 25, 1954, John Wm. Broll, Jr.
We miss you dear son, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more.
Our hearts are filled with tears for we loved you.
And we miss you though you have gone far,
Two years, the years are so lonely without you,
Our hearts are filled with pain.
We'd give the world if it were ours.
To have you back again.
Sadly missed by his MOTHER, SISTER and BROTHERS

GOP Committee Gets Campaign Into High Gear

Plans For Knowland Visit, Election

The Republican Committee, getting the county's campaign drive into high gear, completed final preparations for the visit of Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland of California who will address area Republicans here next Wednesday at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Knowland will arrive by plane at Municipal Airport and will remain at Fort Cumberland Hotel. The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m.

James S. Getty, chairman of the GOP committee, said the dinner is open to the public, and urged those who want tickets to get them immediately, as ticket sales have progressed well.

Tickets Available

Tickets may be obtained from members of the committee, Miss Catherine Close of the Frostburg GOP Women's Club, and Mrs. E. F. Phillips, of the Cumberland GOP Women's Club.

The committee then went on record to notify the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors that it is opposed to any further reduction in the number of precinct workers.

Plans were made for conducting instruction meetings with precinct workers between now and election time in November.

The group also made plans for a registration drive before October 6, the final day for registration for this year's election.

Appeals To Voters

Getty issued an appeal "for everyone who believes in the Eisenhower Administration" to register and vote this year. He added that, "Unless everybody does vote the Republicans can lose."

Also on the committee agenda was preparation for local GOP leaders to attend the Richard M. Nixon breakfast Saturday at 8:30 a. m. in Hagerstown, where the Vice President will deliver an address later in the day in city square.

Planning to attend are Mrs. Catherine Close, Mrs. Helen Shryock and Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, members of the Frostburg Women's Club; Mrs. James Orr, Mrs. Mary Bachman and Mrs. E. F. Phillips, of Cumberland Women's Club; Jack Elliott, Melvin Sloan and Allen Abbott, of the Lonaconing Republican Club; Mr. and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall Jr., Earl Chaney; George Hughes Jr., Getty, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Burke, State's Attorney and Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher, and members of the State Central Committee.

Seven Endorsed For Judgeship On High Court

A committee from the Maryland Bar Association reportedly has endorsed seven attorneys for the vacancy on the Maryland Court of Appeals, but Richard Emery of Baltimore, committee chairman, declined last night to release the list.

Emery said that he had just sent the list to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, who probably will announce the recommendations.

It was understood that the committee met Tuesday night in Baltimore and endorsed one attorney from each of seven counties for the judicial post. The counties are Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery, Carroll and Howard.

Judge Edward S. Delaplaine of Frederick is retiring from the appeals court October 1. Last week a petition was circulated among members of the Allegany County Bar Association endorsing State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher for the judgeship.

W. Earle Cobey of this city is the Allegany County member of Emery's committee, but he was in Oakland Tuesday for a trial and did not attend the meeting.

Suit Concerns Three States

A collision between Pennsylvania and West Virginia cars on U. S. 220 in Maryland was recalled in a $500 damage suit filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

William F. Crawley Jr., 1508 22d Street, Altoona, Pa., for his own use and for use of the State Auto Insurance Association, brought the action against Lindsey Reed, RFD 1, Davis, W. Va.

Crawley said he was driving south on U. S. 220 May 22 and stopped while the car in front of him made a left turn about two miles south of Cumberland. The defendant's car smashed into the rear of the Pennsylvania's vehicle, according to the suit.

The insurance company paid Crawley $289.42, which constituted all but $100 of the damage to his car. The suit was docketed by the law firm of Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist.

Directors To Meet

The Tri-State Funeral Directors will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Clary Club to discuss their participation in Civil Defense work in the area. Lee Silcox is president of the group.

Bankers Honor Old-Timer

Artist Suggests:

Hobbies Should Serve Man's Creative Urge

All people have an urge to create and Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the Allegany County public schools, believes that adults would be much happier and more contented if they developed hobbies which stress their ability to create.

In emphasizing his ideas on the subject Foote has delivered a talk entitled "Creation Through Recreation" which he has presented to nine different service clubs in the Tri-State area in the past several months.

One of the troubles with the present system of mass production is that everybody tends to do things just like everybody else, he remarked. Some major industries today are trying to get away from this stereotyped condition by seeking young engineers who, besides having technical skill, have creative minds which "dare to be different," Foote said.

In speaking of creativity, Foote stressed that he was not advocating that all adults become artists. He observed that a man can be creative through such diverse hobbies as model railroading, developing flower beds, photography and furniture making.

One of the primary values of a creative hobby is that it provides a release of tensions. It also serves as thought therapy and physical therapy and raises the mental self-esteem of the hobbyist.

Foote cited as some of the suggested creative hobbies jewelry making and leather goods making. No large investment of money is needed for development of such a hobby. He illustrated by twisting a piece of aluminum clothes line wire into the shape of a man's face. He also showed a rooster which was made of perforated sheet metal. The finest illustration was a leather purse.

The man who has a creative hobby probably will have little need to see a psychiatrist or require medical treatment for a psychosomatic ailment brought on because the patient thought he was ill.

Foote, who presented his talk yesterday to Cumberland Kiwanis Club, has addressed clubs on this subject all the way from Hollidaysburg, Pa., on the north to Keyser, W. Va., on the south.

Flossie Fails To Visit Area; No One Sorry

Predictions were that this area might experience gales up to 25 miles per hour, but the maximum was about 10 miles per hour, comparatively harmless. The weatherman also predicted that this area might get an inch or more of rainfall, but an intermittent drizzle yesterday totaled .62 of an inch up to 9 p. m. Temperatures ranged between 45 and 48 degrees.

Robert R. Golden, local weather observer said there was nothing out of the ordinary, and so far as Flossie was concerned, this area got only an outer fringe.

The Associated Press last night reported that high winds and gusts up to 63 miles per hour, and heavy rains were experienced in some parts of the state as Flossie swept along.

Rainfall ranged from less than half an inch on the Eastern Shore to 1.70 inches in Rockville and near an inch elsewhere in the state.

The Coast Guard reported a top wind reading of 63 miles per hour at Ocean City. Winds of 40 miles per hour were expected to rake much of Southern Maryland and possibly the Shore Thursday night and early Friday as Storm Flossy moves out to sea and up the Atlantic Coast.

Northeast storm warnings flew along Chesapeake Bay where tides were rising 3 to 6 feet above normal. The tide in Baltimore was 5.6 feet above normal at 10 a.m. Thursday, and approximately 1.36 inches of rain had fallen between midnight Wednesday and 7 p.m. Thursday.

Heaviest rainfall reported in the state occurred at Rockville where 1.70 inches fell. Waldorf in Southern Maryland measured 1.25 inches and Waterloo 1.06.

C. E. Dreyfus, Celanese Head, Dies At 78

Started Amcelle Plant Near City

Dr. Camille Edward Dreyfus, chairman of Celanese Corporation of America and one of the pioneers of the textile and chemical industries, died yesterday in his apartment at the Hotel Pierre in New York, following a brief illness. He was 78.

Early basic research in cellulosic chemistry, undertaken by Dr. Dreyfus and his brother, the late Dr. Henry Dreyfus, led to the founding of three major enterprises—British Celanese, Ltd., Celanese Corporation of America and Canadian Celanese, Ltd.

Since 1945, Dr. Camille Dreyfus had been chairman of Celanese Corporation of America and for 27 years previously had served as president, from the time of the corporation's founding in 1918. He also was president of Canadian Celanese, Ltd., and managing director of British Celanese, Ltd.

The brothers Dreyfus were natives of Basel, Switzerland, sons of Abraham Dreyfus, a banker, and Henrietta Wahl Dreyfus. Their researches began in Basel in 1904, and six years later they started production of cellulose acetate lacquers and plastic film. An early market for their acetate film was in non-inflammable motion picture film base that superseded the volatile cellulose nitrate previously used. Also, initially, small amounts of acetate lacquer were sold to the expanding aircraft industry to serve as a "dope" coating for wing and fuselage fabric coverings and to help reduce fire hazards.

Started With Airplanes

By 1913, after some 20,000-odd separate experiments, the Dreyfus brothers produced good quality laboratory samples of acetate filament yarn. However, outbreak of World War I thrust them into volume production of acetate "dope" for military aircraft and forced postponement of further work on textiles.

They were invited by the British Government in 1914 to erect a plant in England to make aircraft "dope" and in 1918, at the urging of President Woodrow Wilson and Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, Dr. Camille Dreyfus came to the United State to start a similar operation here. Construction work started on a plant in Cumberland, but the war ended before its completion.

Despite termination of the government business, plant construction continued and Dreyfus began to pull together a nucleus of what was later to become the American Celanese Company's management. Meanwhile, in England was being developed the first commercially feasible acetate textile yarn.

In America, along with gradual formation of an organization, the postwar years were marked by construction and equipping of spinning and textile buildings at the Cumberland plant. A discouraging early setback came in the form of a flood, which caused serious damage and delays in getting operations started.

Cumberland Plant Opens

Finally, during the 1924 Christmas holiday season, Dr. Camille Dreyfus and his colleagues were rewarded for their painstaking work when the first yarn was spun in the Cumberland plant.

Getting acetate yarn production on a practical commercial scale was only part of the job. Sales resistance to the new relatively unknown synthetic material was stubborn during the early years. In order to overcome natural apathy to the new product and also combat certain competitive opposition, Dr. Dreyfus and associates had to take direct and aggressive steps to obtain acceptance for their "artificial silk," as the early acetate was known.

Silk mills were commissioned during the early days to weave acetate fabrics to Celanese specifications and Dr. Camille Dreyfus carried on a personally dedicated campaign to get the new synthetics out into the market.

Dr. Dreyfus' genius was not confined to discoveries in the laboratory. He made contributions not only as a scientist, but as a financier and merchant as well.

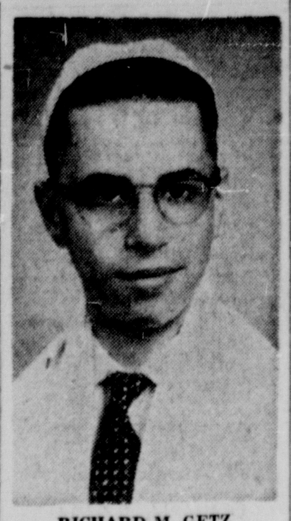

Company World Famous

The Celanese operation to whose founding he contributed has become world prominent not only through synthetic textiles, but as a substantial producer of industrial chemicals and plastics.

Dr. Dreyfus was a member of the Americal Chemical Society, Society of Chemical Industry in Great Britain, Chemists Club, Swiss Society of New York, French Legion of Honor and Congregation Emanu-El. He was a trustee of the Pestalozzi Foundation of America, Inc., and member of the advisory board of the Swiss Benevolent Society. He was founder and president of the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation, Inc.

Dr. Dreyfus was a man of modest habits who shunned public attention and found pleasure in a number of charities. He was graduated from the University of Basel in 1901, and the Sorbonne, Paris, in 1906 .

Surviving are his wife, Jean Tennyson Dreyfus, and a brother, Emile Dreyfus, of Basel, Switzerland.

Railway Plans Trailer Service West Of City

New Convenience To Start Monday

The Western Maryland Railway Company will inaugurate trailer-on-flat car or "piggy back" trailer service in Cumberland next Monday.

W. L. Weinacht rail-truck traffic manager in Baltimore, announced that schedules will provide for inbound and outbound service at Cumberland with second-day delivery provided at Chicago, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., the gateways for deliveries to points beyond.

Service will be provided by the railroad with trailers hauling goods and equipment to and from Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Minn.; St. Paul, Minn.; Detroit, Mich.; Toledo, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio; Louisville, Ky., and southwest points including surrounding areas at the principal points of delivery.

Rates will be established on a truck competitive basis and information for use of the railway service, which the line said is being more widely utilized on principal railroad lines every day, will be available at the offices of E. A. Lindsay, Cumberland divisi n traffic manager of the Western Maryland, and Millard Buskirk, freight agent here.

The inclusion of the Cumberland area marks the latest expansion of this service which presently is in effect at Baltimore, York, Pa., and other points on the Western Maryland.

The truck ramp for the trailer service is located in Ridgeley at the Western Maryland yards there. The trailers are railroad equipment, and tractor-trucks will be hired to remove the trailers from the flatbed cars at delivery points.

Officials of the railway said the service is fast gaining popularity, and has an advantage of providing delivery to warehouses and individuals where railroad sidings are not available.

Thomas Woman Fatally Injured As Truck Upsets

A 33-year-old Thomas, W. Va., woman died in Tucker County Hospital about 12:35 a. m. yesterday after she was thrown through the roof of a truck when it upset.

Mrs. Dollie Burns Wolf became Tucker County's first auto fatality this year when the pickup truck in which she was riding crashed on West Virginia State Route 32, about 150 yards south of Thomas.

State Trooper Donald G. Peters said Henry E. Miller, 30, of Lost River, driver of the vehicle, was released on $1,000 bond yesterday afternoon for action of the grand jury after he was charged with involuntary manslaughter.

The truck upset about 11 p. m. Wednesday when it failed to negotiate a curve while traveling at more than 80 miles per hour, Peters said. Mrs. Wolf apparently was thrown through the roof of the truck as it rolled over.

The truck crashed into a roadside fence and upended, rolling back on its wheels again before coming to a stop some 30 feet from the curve.

Miss Ruth Lambert, 18, of Davis, another passenger in the vehicle, suffered back injuries and some lacerations of the face and arms. She was admitted to Tucker County Hospital in Parsons where attendants said her condition was "fair."

Miller was cut about the face and was shaken up, but was released from the hospital after treatment.

Mrs. Wolf was born at Coketon, a daughter of James William and Rebecca (Bonner) Burns. Her husband, Charles Wolf, died in March of this year.

Surviving, besides her parents, are five brothers, Ira, Coketon; Henry, Indianapolis, Ind.; Olie, Bayard; Clyde, stationed with the Air Force in South Carolina, and Randall Burns, Akron, Ohio, and three sisters, Mrs. Iva Miller, Silver Springs, Md.; Mrs. Elizabeth Arbogast, Davis, and Mrs. Paula Graham, Akron.

The body is at the residence, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. A. B. Mann, pastor of Thomas Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery at Thomas.
